DISASTROUS FIRE SWEEPS CUMBERLAND

NO DECISION ON MEAL TAX COURT TEST

Levy Held Ultra Vires on Two Points by Defence in Vancouver

SIMILARITY TO FUEL OIL IMPORT STRESSED

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—With decision reserved by Magistrate J. A. Finlay, first test of the validity of the Provincial Government's meal tax, imposed under the Hospitals Aid Act, was brought up in police court here today.

F. C. Elliott, K.C., of Victoria, is charged with refusing to pay a 14-cent tax on a $2.50 meal consumed in a cafe here several weeks ago. He was summoned and announced his intention of making his action a test case.

Validity of the tax was attacked on two points by M. B. O'Dell, counsel for Mr. Elliott, who claims the act is ultra vires the Provincial Legislature.

TWO POINTS STRESSED

Mr. O'Dell contended that the so-called meal tax is in point of fact an excise tax and as such cannot be imposed by the Provincial Legislature, inasmuch as it conflicts with the powers vested in the Dominion Government by the British North America Act.

His second contention was that no penalty is imposed by the Hospitals Aid Act for persons refusing to impose that tax set forth in the act and that the Legislature has not the power to delegate the authority for imposition of the penalties on any body.

Declaring that the meal tax is a duty and therefore an excise tax, Mr. O'Dell pointed out its similarity to the fuel oil tax which was im-

INTEREST TAX NOW MODIFIED

Approach to Parity in Currencies Results in Suspension of Levy

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—The tax of 5 per cent on interest payments in a currency other than Canadian shall not, in future, apply to payments in a currency the premium on which, in terms of Canadian funds, is 5 per cent or less. Action to this effect was taken by the Cabinet Council today and announcement made public by Sir George H. Perley, acting Prime Minister.

The tax applied pursuant to a resolution contained in the budget presented by Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes, last March. It became effective on May 1, and applied particularly to interest payments which the security holder could demand in United States currency if desired. At that time the exchange rate was between 10c and 15c and the tax was likely to be productive of considerable revenue.

NO ADVANTAGE NOW

With the Canadian dollar now within less than 5c of the value of the United States dollar, the situation was such that there would be no advantage to the security holder in demanding United States funds, since the tax would bring the total down to less than he would receive in Canadian funds.

In the case of those interest payments which are covered by cheques posted to security holders, the exchange rate in effect on the date fifteen days before the interest becomes due and payable will prevail. If on that date it is not greater than 5 per cent the tax will not be deducted. This advance date is provided to accommodate those who must make out their interest and dividend cheques well in advance of the due date.

BEARER BONDS

With respect to bearer bond coupons the exchange rate on the date of presentation will prevail in deciding whether or not the tax will be applied.

CHILD DROWNED IN WATER PAIL

Japanese Girl Found Dead—Fell Head First Into Container Left on Floor

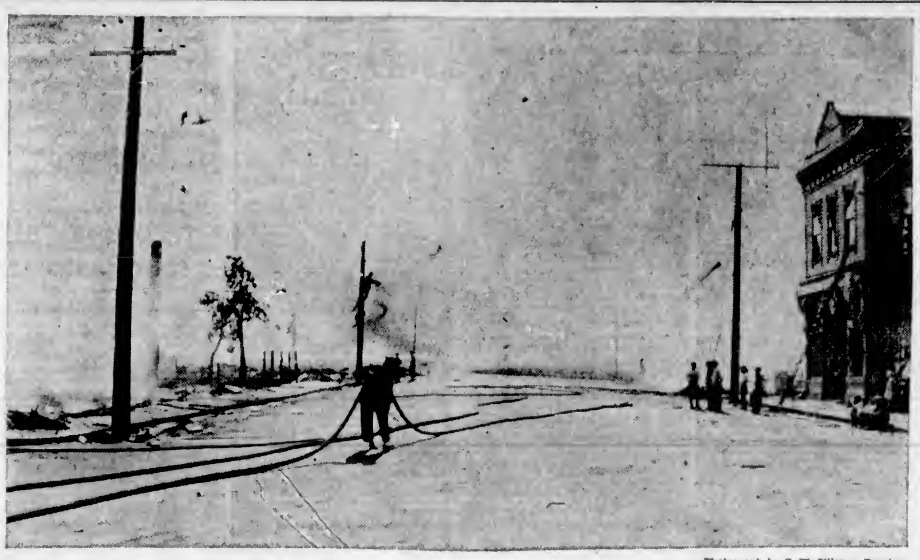

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—Keiko Nishimura, one-and-one-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Nishimura, Dundas Street, Japanese, was drowned in a four-gallon lard pail left on the kitchen floor during the noon hour today, according to a police report.

The baby's mother left the child in the kitchen while she went upstairs.

When she returned to the kitchen a few minutes later she found the baby headfirst in the pail which contained about six inches of water.

Business Area of Coal City Is Wiped Out

—Photograph by C. W. Sillence, Royston.

THE above view of the main business street of Cumberland was taken at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after fire had made a sweep through the closely-constructed shopping district of the town. Only a few chimneys remain to show where blocks were located. The picture was taken from the post office looking up the street, and was rushed to The Colonist by special automobile relay. Owing to the dense pall of smoke and terrific heat, it was impossible, at the time, to obtain additional photographs, but the picture above gives a clear idea of the manner in which the fire swept through the section, taking everything before it, until stayed by the sacrifice of buildings by blowing them up with dynamite.

BRITAIN TURNS DOWN PROPOSAL FOR VAST PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

Has Found Scheme Unsatisfactory—Matter for Individual Nations

PITTMAN HAS NEW SILVER RESOLUTION

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, July 13 (CP).—Meteors raced across the somnolent sky of the World Economic Conference, today.

But in a day of surprises, the scope of the parley, sadly cut down from its original broad sweep, was not enlarged. The United Kingdom emphatically rejected vast public works schemes as a cure for unemployment. The Americans proposed world-wide action for cutting hours of work, raising wages, as a way out of the unemployment muddle.

James M. Cox, of the United States, persuaded the steering committee the conference should go on although the limitations of the United States delegation prevented discussion of more than two main items, indebtedness and silver, along with others on which unanimous agreement might be possible.

ATTACK PROMPTLY STOPPED

A sharp attack by the Irish Free State on the United Kingdom was promptly suppressed by the imperturbable chairman of the Economic Commission, Premier Hendryk Colijn, of Holland.

Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, introduced a substitute for his silver resolution, abandoning the suggestion central banks optionally keep one-fifth of their reserves in silver. His substitute did not mention any proportion.

Into a debate that loitered over great public works proposals as a

Chinese General Captures City Close to Jehol Border

SHANGHAI, July 14 (AP).—A clash between General Feng Yu Hsiang's forces and Manchukuan guards on the Western Jehol frontier, Chinese dispatches said today, resulted in the capture of Dolonor by Feng's troops. The city, which is in Chatar Province just across the border from Jehol, was taken yesterday, reports reaching here from Kalgan said. They added that the Manchukuans fled across the border.

The reported engagement is part of General Feng's campaign to regain Jehol and China's "lost provinces" of Manchuria which were seized by the Japanese and Manchukuans. The Chinese Nationalist Government at Nanking, although opposed to Feng's activities because of its recent peace negotiations with the Japanese, has indicated no force will be used against him.

Marketing Board On Farm Produce Proposed by B.C.

Enactment of Legislation Akin to British Marketing Act, With Control of Inter-Provincial Shipments by Dominion Body, Will Be Suggested by Premier Tolmie at Regina

DOMINION legislation paralleling the British Marketing Act, of 1931, and creation of a Federal marketing board to control inter-provincial shipments of agricultural products, will be urged at Regina by British Columbia delegates to the agricultural conference, to open there on July 20, under Hon. Robert Weir. Premier Tolmie, as British Columbia Minister of Agriculture, accompanied by J. B. Munro, deputy minister, will leave on Monday for the scene of the conference, armed with a comprehensive file on agricultural matters.

While no formal statement was made, it was learned, authoritatively, that British Columbia will invite the Dominion to enact a law similar to the British Marketing Act, with necessary variations to suit Canadian conditions; and to create a Dominion board to carry out its terms.

ALTERNATIVE PROPOSALS

Alternatively, the Province will ask that the Dominion, failing the first course, pass on to the several provinces the right to make their own marketing acts. As a second alternative, it was pointed out, each province could license packers and shippers; but this would have control only within the confines of the province concerned.

Mainland growers recently went on record in favor of a Dominion Marketing Act, and a Federal body to control its regulations, urging Dominion supervision on the ground that no other course would adequately regulate inter-provincial movements in agricultural products.

Some rationalization of farm production, to eliminate uneconomic practices and to restore prices, is the main desire behind the move-

Lindberghs Prepare to Move North

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 13 (CP).—Stormy weather that grounded the flying Lindberghs today was bright tonight, and lightening skies gave promise of a fine day for the next stage of their northern mapping flight.

Their plane was in readiness at Bay Bulls big pond for an early take-off for the Labrador village of Cartwright, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh expected to lift the plane from the pond surface early tomorrow. He planned a brief stop at Botwood, Exploit Bay, on the way.

HEPPNER, Ore., July 13 (AP).—La Costa W. Severe, of Shanghai, China, driving an automobile with a California licence, was killed today when his automobile was wrecked near Boardman.

Film Stars May Set Up Own Police

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 13 (AP).—Steps toward the formation of a Hollywood "Scotland Yard" were advocated, today, as film celebrities, feeling a bit jittery as a result of the recent wave of kidnappings, depleted the ranks of unemployed bodyguards.

Many stars of cinema land during the past few days have employed private police for themselves or their children, in fear that an effort will be made to abduct them. Others have had such protection regularly.

POST READY TO START FLIGHT

Awaiting Favorable Weather for World-Encircling Dash

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP).—Undaunted by Jimmie Mattern's misfortunes, Wiley Post, thirty-four-year-old flyer, is awaiting favorable weather conditions for the take-off on his projected solo flight around the world.

Post, co-holder of the globe-circling record of 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes, has completed tests of the Winnie Mae of Oklahoma, the plane he and Harold Gatty used for their 1931 flight.

"Unless something goes amiss," said Post, "I will be back in New York not more than six days after I leave. If lucky, I may even be able to improve on this expected time."

BERLIN FIRST OBJECTIVE

Post's first objective is Berlin, a 3,900-mile flight. From Berlin, his next scheduled stop will be Novo-Sibirsk, Russia, on to Khabarovsk, Siberia; Fairbanks, Alaska, and then to Edmonton, Alta., en route back to New York.

The Winnie Mae is equipped with the latest flying apparatus, including automatic or robot pilot. The robot is designed to keep the plane on its course, maintain its altitude and stability, and correct any deviations caused by wind or weather.

Tourist Travel Shows Big Gain

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—Tourist travel in Canada's national parks this season has given indications of equaling in volume the peak year of 1929, according to information reaching Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior.

The number of visitors over the Dominion Day holiday is usually taken as an indication of what the season will produce. At Banff National Park in Alberta, all available accommodations were occupied on Dominion Day and many tourists slept in their cars, it was reported.

U.B.C. MAN TO JUDGE AT WORLD GRAIN SHOW

OFFERS NEW PLAN OF DISOBEDIENCE

Indian Congress Still Undecided Whether to Continue Passive Resistance Movement

POONA, India, July 13 (CP).—A novel plan of "individual disobedience," by which it is hoped to attract the attention of the world to the demands of the Indian Nationalists, was attributed to Mahatma Gandhi, tonight, by a reliable informant. This would replace the waning mass passive resistance movement.

The Indian National Congress party, after meeting in strict secrecy for two days, adjourned again tonight, still unable to reach a decision on abandonment or revival of the passive resistance movement.

The new plan, which reportedly has aroused opposition within the Congress, provides for selection of one hundred of the most intellectual and religious of the Congress to embark on a campaign of civil disobedience which would insure their landing behind prison bars, where their plight, according to the plan, would evoke the sympathy of the world

Royal Bank Blown Up To Check Flames and Prevent Clean Sweep

Ten Homes, Eighteen Business Premises and Numerous Smaller Buildings Destroyed — Many Homeless—No Serious Casualties— Loss Estimated to Total $110,000

CUMBERLAND, July 13.—Fire, believed to have started in the King George Hotel, swept along the main street of this town today, razing eighteen business premises and ten homes. Damage was conservatively estimated at $110,000. The Royal Bank of Canada was dynamited to halt the onslaught of the flames, which threatened to jump Dunsmuir Street, and spread to another block of buildings. Fortunately no person was injured, although a number are homeless.

Buildings destroyed are as follows: Pay and Save Grocery, McLean's jewelery store, King George Hotel, Mumford's grocery store, Lang's drug store, McKinnon's drygoods store, Royal candy store, Scavarda's grocery, Marocchi's bakery, Cumberland Hotel, Welsh Society Hall, Farmer's cafe, Campbell Bros.' departmental store, Spooner's barber shop, Galleazzi's shore repairing, King's stationery, the Royal Bank of Canada, and the Government liquor store.

MANY HOMES BURNED

Homes destroyed are owned by: John Thomson, Miss M. Mitchell, Caleb Dando, Jr., Charles Walker, Harry Parkinson, James Gibb, J. Hill, Scavarda and J. Marocchi, Mayor Alex Maxwell, and a house belonging to the estate of the late J. J. Weir. Numerous outbuildings also were destroyed. Firemen and volunteer fighters suffered minor injuries from flying embers and falling timbers, but none seriously enough to require hospital attention.

The blaze was first seen about 12:20 o'clock noon coming from the King George Hotel, where the fire is believed to have started through a defective chimney. A stiff breeze was blowing at the time and the flames quickly spread.

The regular volunteer fire corps under Chief C. J. Parnham and Deputy Chief J. H. Cameron was quickly rounded up, but the flames had spread so rapidly that citizens had to be recruited to help battle the conflagration.

Courtenay sent a volunteer fire corps of twenty-four men to assist in the work, while the Provincial Police, stationed north and south of Cumberland, were dispatched to the scene to not only help with the fire fighting, but control the situation.

RAGED THREE HOURS

For three hours the fire raged, while some 150 men fought to bring it under control. Every effort was made to extinguish it without the use of dynamite, but, eventually, this expedient was resorted to, and several charges of dynamite were brought from the Canadian Collieries' mines.

The Royal Bank of Canada fell victim to the first explosion, and the razing of this building prevented the flames from spreading to the adjoining block. The fire was attacked chiefly from the front, although corps of volunteers were stationed on all boundaries, particularly as the flames jumped the street, which parallels the main street at the rear of the business blocks. It was on this rear street that the ten homes were destroyed.

At 3:30 o'clock, this afternoon, the fire was brought under control, and by 6 o'clock the town was entirely out of danger, but resembling

Injured Man Says He Was Beaten and Robbed of $10,000

CALGARY, July 13 (CP).—Police tonight are investigating circumstances surrounding injuries received by Rheau Mosom, apartment house owner of Laguna Beach, Cal., who was found in a city park last night with a badly lacerated arm and rushed to hospital after informing police he had been robbed of $10,000 by two men and a woman. He stated the two men attacked him while the woman managed to secure his pocketknife, which she thrust into his arm. The men hit him over the head also, Mosom said, and displayed a badly bruised skull.

TAKING LEAD IN NEW PLAN

British Dominions Considering Proposals for World-Wide Price Raising

LONDON, July 13 (CP and AP).—Certain of the British Dominions were understood tonight to be considering putting a world-wide price-raising programme of wide scope before the World Conference for consideration.

This step was revealed as the Dominions were said to be putting pressure on the British Government to unhitch sterling from the French franc and follow the American dollar, moderately. The Dominions are known to strongly want a "reflationary" programme, even if they do not want to go so far that a collapse would be risked.

CANADA IS WAITING

Seemingly Canada is holding back from the move to set a price-raising programme before the conference, a move that would include a demand for all nations to state what they can do to raise prices and how far they would like to raise them.

France Will Pay Before Maturity

PARIS, July 13 (AP).—The French Cabinet today accepted Finance Minister Georges Bonnet's assurance that the national treasury is sufficiently prosperous, and authorized repayment on July 29 of half of British £30,000,000 loan instead of waiting for its maturity, October 29.

Seattle Man Is Brutally Beaten

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP).—Brutally beaten by a man swinging a hammer, A. A. Span, beauty parlor owner, was severely injured today in a mysterious assault. He received two severe head wounds, and was found in a semi-conscious condition by fellow employees.

AIR FLEET AT SHEDIAC

Italian Squadron Is Given Rousing Welcome on Arrival in Canada

SHEDIAC, N.B., July 13. — Down the leagues of land and sea from Cartwright a new armada swept today, sworn not to the conquest of men, but to victory over nature's barriers. Stockades of Alp and ocean, which hold the nations apart, were ignored again as General Italo Balbo and his hundred men swept into Shediac Bay out of Cartwright, Labrador, on their journey from Italy to Chicago.

Excited cheers went up from the pierhead as the twenty-four flying boats appeared in close formation between Point Du Chene and Shediac Island. Despite the fact the Italian base here had announced the expedition would not leave Cartwright until tomorrow, between 8,000 and 10,000 people crowded this little New Brunswick town to watch the great silver boats roar in to a landing.

LAND IN QUICK SUCCESSION

At 2:24 p.m. (Eastern standard time) the planes were sighted, and six minutes later the first triad, with the lead plane marked "Balbo," with the lead plane marked "Balbo,"

B.C. TO MAKE SAFETY SURVEY

Victoria Fire Department Is Praised for Efficiency in Protection

Praise for the Victoria Fire Department in unstinted measure was accorded at a meeting this week of Provincial officials, making a survey of fire protection facilities in connection with public buildings. The service rendered by the Victoria Fire Department in connection with the Legislative Buildings was said to be the best in British Columbia.

As the main repository of records, many of which are irreplacable, extreme caution is taken with fire at the buildings. The new portion of the buildings is covered by an automatic fire alarm system. Measures are currently under consideration to increase safeguards in respect to other parts of the pile, and the surrounding buildings. The survey is also to be carried out in respect to the courthouses at Victoria and Vancouver, and other Provincial offices in the province.

VICTORIA IS COMMENDED

Present at the conference held by officials of the Department of Public Works were: P. Philip, deputy minister and chief engineer; Henry Whittaker, chief architect; Fire Marshal J. A. Thomas; Deputy Fire Marshal Alex Munro, chief of the Victoria Fire Department, and others. Mr. Thomas complimented the Victoria force on its high degree of efficiency, an expression that was warmly echoed by other Provincial officials.

An extensive study of what further safeguards may be desirable to protect Provincial records will be carried out in the course of the next few days, it was stated.

Ken Black Defeats Dr. Baker to Reach Semi-Final Round

Vancouver Boy Is Sole Canadian Survivor in Dominion Championship Golf—Frank Dolp, "Scotty" Campbell and Harry Givan Win

SHAUGHNESSY HEIGHTS GOLF CLUB, VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—Youthful Kenny Black, of Vancouver, twenty-year-old son of the professional at this club, remained the sole surviving Canadian in the hunt for Canada's amateur golf championship at the close of play today, while three brilliant Americans, two from Seattle and a sharp-shooting Portland ace, accompanied the determined young linksman into the semi-final bracket.

Winner by a 5 and 3 score over Dr. Cliff Baker, of Portland, today, Black will face the Washington University freshman, Harry Givan, who eliminated Don Gowan, of Vancouver, 1 up, in a sensational battle. Gowan is the man who dethroned the defending champion, Gordon Taylor, of Montreal, in the second round yesterday.

In the other semi-final, the ranking favorite, Frank Dolp, of Portland, is drawn against Albert "Scotty" Campbell, Seattle, in a semi-final match that is expected to produce a stirring golf exhibition. Campbell advanced at the expense of Cecil Coville, of Vancouver, 3 and 2.

ENORMOUS GALLERY

The feature match of today's play, however, was that between Dolp and Jack Cameron, of Toronto, runner-up to Taylor in the 1932 title chase, and the East's greatest challenger in the current classic. This pair of inspired shotsmiths drew an enormous gallery as they took advange of perfect weather to forge a chain of pars and birdies that bettered anything produced in the entire tourney. The

TWO CONVICTED IN THEFT CASE

Saanich Police Lay Trap and Capture Pair—Sentences Given

Herbert Allison was sentenced to two months in prison, and John Targett was given suspended sentence by Magistrate George Jay in the Saanich police court yesterday on a joint charge of attempting to steal gasoline from a municipal machine at Cordova Bay.

Chief of Police Allan Rankin and Constable John Bull were the chief witnesses. They explained how a trap had been laid for the pair at the gravel pit at Cordova Bay, and how the two had visited the place about 2 a.m. on Wednesday.

Targett was given suspended sentence owing to the fact that there was no previous conviction against him, but the magistrate, in giving the sentence, pointed out to the accused the seriousness of the offence, and issued a strong warning to the man not to become involved again and to keep his reputation above suspicion.

MARKETING BOARD ON FARM PRODUCE PROPOSED BY B.C.

ment. With a record volume of farm crops last year, British Columbia growers received less than production costs, in many cases, for their efforts. A Dominion marketing policy would help to straighten out many unnecessary abuses of the present system, it is contended.

OTHER SUBJECTS LISTED

British Columbia will also seek discussion of plant diseases, as affecting berry producers; the growing importance of seeds and serials in the West; dairy herd improvement; co-ordination of Federal and Provincial policies on purebred foundation livestock; and extension of soil surveys to determine fitness of lands for specialized production.

Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, and the ministers and deputy ministers of agriculture of the nine provinces, will be at the conference, which is to open in Regina during the time of the World's Grain Show. Technical advisers of the Federal and Provincial Governments are also expected to be on hand.

Premier Tolmie said he would take advantage of his presence in Regina to inspect the British Columbia exhibit there, and also to examine what other provinces are doing in agricultural matters. He was undecided, yesterday, as to whether or not he would proceed straight to the Prairie city, or break his journey to fulfill one or two speaking engagements first, in the Interior.

NO DECISION ON MEAL TAX COURT TEST

posed under an act held ultra vires by an Appeal Court decision and which is now before the Privy Council.

Defence counsel stated that if the act were intra vires, as contended by the Crown, the Provincial Government could tax anything.

In dealing with his second point, Mr. O'Dell declared that no penalties were provided in the act and was without the power of the Legislature to delegate this authority to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council as set forth in the act.

A. C. Desbrisay, Crown counsel, argued that there were numerous cases where the courts had upheld the right of the Legislature to delegate authority for the imposition of such penalties on such bodies.

Mr. Desbrisay contended the tax was direct and in no way could be construed as an excise impost. It was not a tax on a commodity in quantity, such as the fuel oil tax, but on price. A meal was not a commodity, he declared, and the tax therefore was imposed on a class of persons unable to pass it on as being indirect.

"The Legislature has already imposed a tax on what man earns and now imposes a tax on what a man spends," observed Magistrate Finlay.

some battle-torn Belgium town, rather than an Up-Island business centre of some 3,000 population.

COMMUNICATION DAMAGED

Telephone and telegraph communication was disrupted totally for a short period, but as soon as the fire was brought under control, every effort was made to restore communication, with the result that telephones were partially restored last night, and telegraph lines were back to normal. Electric light wires are down in some sections of the town, but a temporary power line has been installed to enable business to carry on.

Citizens, when given the general alarm, hurriedly removed furnishings from their homes within the danger zone, and those who lost their homes entirely were taken care of by friends.

LOSS HEAVY

A rough check of the loss, tonight, placed the damage at $110,000, with a probability that it may be higher. The damage is partly covered by insurance, it was learned.

The heat was intense, and the flying embers kept persons all over town busy moistening the roofs of their dwellings with garden hose.

First word of the disastrous fire reached the Parliament Buildings through the Provincial Forestry Branch, and every assistance was ordered for the stricken city of Cumberland. Provincial Police at Up-Island points were instructed to render all possible assistance, and officers were dispatched to the scene.

AIR FLEET AT SHEDIAC

roared low over the bay and glided to the surface.

At 3 p.m. the last of the crusaders had come down and the twenty-four machines glistened in the brilliant sunlight as they lay at their moorings across the roadstead, in a half-mile column, between Point Du Chene and West Shediac.

Thus the 800-mile trip from Cartwright, from the take-off of General Balbo's plane at 8:20 a.m. until the final landing of the last triad, Captain Caldo, Lieutenant-Colonel Longo and Captain Canistraci, took six hours and forty minutes.

MET BY DESTROYER

"Viva," shouted the crowd as General Balbo, General Adio Pellegrini and Lieutenant-Colonel Longo came ashore in a launch from the Canadian destroyer Saguenay.

"This is more than a trip by air, it's an international event," declared General Balbo at the public reception given before one of Shediac's hotels an hour or more after the arrival. He was given a tremendous ovation at the start and finish of his brief address.

He was the last speaker. Lieutenant-Governor Hugh H. McLean spoke for the Sovereign, declaring the flight aroused the admiration of men and women not only in Canada, but in the whole world. Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Health, read the message from Acting Premier Sir George Perley, congratulating the flyers for the Dominion.

BILINGUAL GREETING

Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, Premier of New Brunswick, attracted great interest and affection from the Italian officers by voicing the greetings of the Province in both English and Italian. "Very good," declared an interpreter. General Balbo appeared amused and delighted. It was the first time he had heard an address in his native tongue since leaving Orbetello on July 1.

Other speakers were Brigadier J. H. L. Parsons, officer commanding Military District No. 7, representing the Department of National Defence, and Mayor Alphonse Sormandy.

At the close of the reception the crowd gave three rousing cheers for Balbo and his flyers, and the Italians responded with the Fascisti salute.

It was still uncertain tonight when the squadron would take off for Montreal and by what route they would fly. It was generally understood they would take off in the morning and travel to Montreal by the main route, over Megantic. But no one was taking anything for granted. It was definitely announced at the base here last night the flyers would not take off from Cartwright until Friday at least, yet they were in the air this morning.

GOOD TRIP INDEED

"It was a very good trip indeed," the General said as he came ashore. "We had a bit of fog, but not very much. Both take-off and landing were accomplished without a hitch."

After the reception tonight, General Balbo went into seclusion and ordered his men to rest. A dinner given by the mayor and town council for visiting notables was not attended by the flyers, but was a gay affair, nevertheless.

KIDNAP POLICE BUREAU URGED

Captives Still Being Sought —President's Grandchildren Protected

(Associated Press)

A nation-wide kidnap secret service was advocated last night by Frank Loesch, veteran head of the Chicago Crime Commission, as a protection against abductions while two prominent victims still remained in the hands of captors. A third was at liberty after payment of $50,000 ransom.

In Washington, the secret service revealed that guards had been placed over the grandchildren of President Roosevelt, but no threats had been made against them. Attorney-General Cummings said the administration was drawing up drastic legislation to deal with kidnappers and gangsters, and that establishment of a Federal police force had been suggested.

John Factor, internationally known market plunger, was at his Chicago home after twelve days' captivity and payment of $50,000 ransom.

The whereabouts of John O'Connell, Jr., twenty-four, of Albany, N.Y., kidnapped July 7, were still unknown. A $200,000 ransom demand was received.

August Luer, aged Alton, Ill., banker, also remained in the hands of abductors. Police and agents of the family were silent on reports that negotiations for his release were under way.

solution for unemployment, Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, threw an emphatic British "No." The discussion arose on an earlier resolution from the French delegation.

MANY IN SUPPORT

The Americans expanded this debate with their resolution favoring reduced hours of labor and "a scale of wages that should increase in proportion to the augmenting of productivity." Representatives of the international labor office commanded it. Delegate after delegate spoke in support.

The British opposition dropped like a bombshell. "We do not speak as a country with great plans for the future," Mr. Runciman said bluntly, "but as a country that has already had experience of attempting to work out the unemployment problem by means of capital expenditures."

The United Kingdom, he added, had spent £100,000,000, and found that for every million spent, she had employed only 2,000 men directly, and 2,000 more indirectly. Public works were very expensive. Great Britain thought they were an unduly expensive way of dealing with the problem. The United Kingdom, Mr. Runciman said firmly, had no intention of repeating the experiment, no matter what was done elsewhere.

MATTER FOR INDIVIDUALS

Public works programmes were a matter for each country to decide for itself.

Senator Connolly's clash with the chairman arose over the Free State's support of a resolution from Soviet Russia calling for a pact of economic non-aggression. The Irishman immediately brought the Anglo-Irish fight over land annuities before the commission.

Senator Connolly sought to go into the history of the Anglo-Irish dispute, which has resulted in severe tariff barriers by each country against the other, following the non-payment of the annuities to England.

Chairman Colijn ruled against him. "This commission," he said, "is not in a position to pass judgment on the question you are raising."

Finally Soviet Russia cut across all accepted doctrines. V. Mejlaux, vice-chairman of the Soviet delegation, argued the increase in prices could not of itself be a factor in improvement of the world situation. Nor could lowering tariffs lead to a modification of the crisis unless tariff lowering was accompanied by a stable increase in demand.

It was out of this consideration that Soviet Russia made its offer to place an additional $1,000,000,000 worth of orders—if only credits are forthcoming.

The question of public works is to go to a special committee.

So does the United States resolution on shorter hours and higher wages. This action was taken on Premier Colijn's suggestion.

Four Others Critically Hurt in Arkansas Explosion — Flames Spread Over Wide Area

ELDORADO, Ark., July 13 (AP).—An explosion in a treating plant of the H. H. Cross oil refinery at Smackover, late today, caused fatal injuries to six persons. Four others were hurt, one critically.

Flames spread over a large area after the explosion, injuring employees who were seventy-five yards or more from the treating plant.

The exact cause of the explosion and fire which followed has not yet been determined. Company officials said the loss was $10,000 or more.

It swept CHICAGO!

"In covering my territory I need a gasoline that will give me more miles per gallon, therefore, I use Super Shell."
John Feeney, Chicago

"My technical knowledge of gasoline is limited but experience has proved to me that Super Shell gives the utmost in speed. The new deal should win over many new users."
C. H. Hancock, Chicago

"I must have a gasoline that starts instantly and insures smooth performance at all times. That is why I changed to Super Shell."
T. R. Seck, Chicago

"When the light changes to 'Go,' I want to be gone. Since I have changed to Super Shell I am away ahead of the others."
Clark H. Hammond, Oak Park, Ill.

Now Super SHELL is capturing the West!

Sold without 3¢ premium. Produced at Shellburn, B. C. Shell Oil Company of British Columbia, Ltd.

TENS of thousands in Chicago switched to this gasoline the first week! It's the same story here—everywhere—people are saying, "Man, have you tried Super Shell!"

From Super Shell you get the kind of premium performance you once paid 3c extra for. The same extra mileage! The get-a-way; the great reserves of smooth, quiet power!

Super refining—that's the reason for it. By Shell's exclusive new processes, the wasteful parts in ordinary gasoline are entirely removed. Super Shell is a concentrated motor fuel; it brings out the greatest power and greatest mileage your motor can give.

This new golden-colored Super Shell is the West's own improvement over the famous Super Shell the East paid more than 8 million extra dollars for! Now this new Super Shell—at the price of regular gasoline—is an overwhelming success everywhere.

Try it—and you'll be telling all your friends, "Change to Super Shell!"

ALL WASTE PARTS REMOVED

GASSY PARTS — that evaporate before they burn. Removed by SHELL.
QUICK-STARTING PARTS — that eliminate wasteful "choking." Kept by SHELL.
POWER PARTS — that give your engine great pick-up and power. Kept by SHELL.
ANTI-KNOCK PARTS — that prevent knocking in traffic and on hills. Kept by SHELL.
SLUGGISH PARTS — that dilute oil. Removed by SHELL.

SUPER SHELL IS HIGHER IN ANTI-KNOCK THAN ANY OTHER GASOLINE AT A NON-PREMIUM PRICE

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 13 (AP).—Mrs. Dorothy Hilda Ancell, forty-one, of Duncan, B.C., died here today after an emergency operation for a ruptured appendix. She became ill three days ago while touring with her husband, Hubert Ancell, and their son, Theodore. The funeral will be held here tomorrow.

"That's RAYON!"

BUT
Built to Courtaulds Specifications

1. The yarn is Courtaulds Viscose Rayon, the strongest and finest the Industry knows—insuring a fabric which will wash perfectly, without special care and will not gather, pucker, frizzle or burn under the hot iron.
2. The cloth is firmly and evenly knit with the full specified number of threads per inch.
3. The garment is cut to specified measurements at every seam and correctly sized.
4. Every detail is subject to constant check by an independent organization engaged especially for that purpose.

"QUALITY CONTROLLED" RAYON
Underwear for Men

No wonder the trend is all to Rayon. Rayon is the fabric of today. Rayon is pleasant to even the most sensitive skin. "Quality Controlled" Rayon is better rayon. "Quality Controlled" Rayon Underwear for men looks better ... feels better ... fits better ... wears better ... and washes and irons better. It won't shrink, stretch or tear easily—wet or dry. It won't shrivel, pucker or burn under the hot iron.

QUALITY CONTROLLED SIZE --

Look for this label

Canada's leading manufacturers have agreed to use Courtaulds world-famous yarns for their better grades of men's underwear, and to manufacture the garments according to Courtaulds "Quality Controlled" specifications. Such garments are distinguished by the "Quality Controlled" label.

Courtaulds rayon yarns are used by manufacturers of high-grade rayon fabrics the world over.

Romance of Early Days in the Yukon Once More Revived

"Klondyke Kate" Returning to Scene of Her Youthful Adventures as Bride of Faithful Admirer for More Than Thirty Years

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP). — "Klondyke Kate," the dance hall girl who dazzled the Yukon in the gold rush days, is going back to the Far North—as a bride. She smiled wistfully here today as she spoke of the romance that was born in Dawson on Christmas Eve, in 1900—the woman who is known throughout the West as the girl who gave Alexander Pantages his start in the theatrical world, and as "Aunt Kate" in the high desert country of Central Oregon.

"Tomorrow at Vancouver, B.C.," she said, "I am going to marry John Matson, an Alaskan miner.

"We're going back to Alaska to live."

On her way to Vancouver, "Klondike Kate" (Mrs. Kate Rockwell), of Bend, Ore., passed through here today, and left on a night boat for the British Columbia city.

AN OLD FRIEND

The couple's plans were for the ceremony to be performed by Rev. George Pringle, in Vancouver, a "sky pilot" in the Yukon country many years ago and a friend of Kate's at that time.

She recalled today that the paths of Matson, a lonely miner, and herself first crossed in the old Savoy Theatre at Dawson that Christmas night. As a dancer, she swept into the theatre, and Matson was among the miners who admired her youth and grace.

He made shy inquiries about her, and later met her, but kept his secret to himself.

Two years later, the popular Kate left Alaska with Pantages. Matson remained in the Yukon country, still digging for gold and recalling the vision he saw that Christmas Eve. The years passed.

Four years ago, he saw in a newspaper that she had attended the Seattle Stampede of the Sourdoughs in 1929, and later that she was called as a witness in the Pantages trial in California.

FRIENDSHIP RENEWED

He wrote her and the correspondence was welcomed by both.

Meanwhile, however, "Klondike Kate" had married and went to the Central Oregon country in 1914. There, on a homestead claim, she picked rocks from the desert, and the other homesteaders admired the diamonds on her fingers and marveled at her past.

Finally, in their correspondence, he asked her to marry him.

"I want to take care of you and make you happy," he writ.

Two weeks ago she visited him in Vancouver, after he had made a journey south from his claim on Matson Creek, in the Lawson country of Alaska.

Time had silvered his sandy hair, and she was no longer the slim girl he had once loved. But the modestly gowned woman of fifty-three still remained his sweetheart.

"Now we're going back to Alaska together—back to the land of gold," she said, as she left here on the boat tonight.

SERIOUS SNAGS IN WHEAT PLAN

Negotiations for Limitation of Production Not at Conference Stage

LONDON, July 13 (CP-AP).—An attempt was made, today, to bring the tangled negotiations on a world agreement for raising the price of wheat on to the World Conference stage, but it was flatly rejected by the "big four" wheat-exporting nations who have been working on the problem outside the conference for many weeks.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald called a conference of the "big four" — Canada, Australia, Argentina and the United States—along with smaller exporting nations and the chief importing countries. He insisted they should endeavor to reach a "prompt agreement" for co-ordinating wheat production and consumption with a view to increasing the price.

VIEWPOINT ACCEPTED

Some of the importing nations proposed the subsequent negotiations be carried on in a sub-committee of the World Economic Conference. The "big four" promptly stepped on this. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, Henry Morgenthau, of the United States; Thomas Le Breton, of Argentina, and Stanley Bruce, of Australia, all pointed out the negotiations thus far have proceeded fairly satisfactory outside the conference. They insisted future progress was contingent on following the same course, and the meeting accepted this viewpoint.

The "big four" have already agreed — in principle — on limiting production and regulating exports in order to fit the demand and, consequently, raise the price. But serious snags were revealed, today, in their efforts to secure the co-operation of the exporting nations of the Danubian Basin and Poland. Nevertheless, Prime Minister Bennett was optimistic. He told the Canadian Press, after today's meeting, the importing countries "showed every desire to co-operate."

MRS. BRANSON IS CALLED TO REST

There passed away, yesterday afternoon, after a lingering illness, Mrs. C. H. L. Branson, of Seaview Road, Ten Mile Point, wife of one of Victoria's prominent financial men. Mrs. Branson was formerly Miss Verna Carroll and was born in England. She had lived here for about ten years and is survived by her husband and two sons, Robert and Thomas; a sister, in England, and a brother, in Saskatoon.

While never identifying herself with club or public life in Victoria, Mrs. Branson had a wide circle of friends, to whom the news of her passing comes with great sorrow.

J. M. Keynes, noted British economist and outspoken exponent of "managed currency," set to work with Sir Henry Strakosch, of India, to draw up the Dominions' idea of what the world should do to raise prices. The two, with General Jan Smuts, of South Africa, and Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, of Australia, held a meeting with Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, to discuss the plan in the afternoon.

DRAFTING RESOLUTION

Following this meeting Keynes and Sir Henry began to draft a resolution. But Prime Minister R. B. Bennett did not attend the meeting, although he was said to be sympathetic to the idea.

The other Dominion delegates, according to reports it was impossible to confirm, had stressed to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain that if the pound is kept pegged on gold, Australia, India and New Zealand might be unable to service their heavy debt burden. They were said to have argued something must be done to increase prices of the raw materials on which these countries depend for prosperity.

Say Thick Skulls Indicate Old Race

WELLINGTON, N.Z., July 13 (AP).—Discovery of an abnormally thick skull in the Taranaki district has created the belief that New Zealand was inhabited by a primitive race before the Maori occupation.

The English anthropologist, Professor Grafton Elliott Smith, to whom the skull was submitted, stated that it was comparable, in thickness, to those of the Piltdown and the Peking men. He expressed the opinion that the skull did not conform to the Maori type.

PLANE AIDS IN RESCUE OF SIX

Forced to Leap From Burning Launch—Tugs Sent to Scene by Flyers

FISHER'S ISLAND, N.Y., July 13 (AP).—The rescue of Colonel M. Robert Guggenheim and five companions, by army officers, after they jumped from a blazing cabin cruiser into Block Island Sound, was disclosed today.

An army airplane, sighting the flaming boat, yesterday afternoon, dropped a life preserver and wireless a nearby army tug, which picked up the three men and three women. Colonel Guggenheim, who cannot swim, had clung to a life-saving fender.

With Colonel Guggenheim, a son of the late Daniel Guggenheim and a brother of Harry Guggenheim, former ambassador to Cuba, were his wife; their son, Robert, Jr., twenty-four; Miss Helen Allen, of Garden City, L.I., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Thomas, of Babylon, L.I.

WERE TAKING CRUISE

The party left the Babylon Yacht Club, on Tuesday, aboard Colonel Guggenheim's boat, the Firenze IV, for a cruise to Montauk Point, L.I.

Lunch was being cooked in the cabin, yesterday, when a heavy sea pulled the kerosene stove from its moorings and hurled it against the wall. Flames spread through the cabin immediately, and the party was forced to soon abandon the boat.

Fifteen minutes after the boat was abandoned, it burned to the water's edge and sank.

Hon. Vincent Massey Fined for Speeding

TORONTO, July 13 (CP).—Hon. Vincent Massey was fined $11 and costs by Magistrate Keith, in York County police court, today, for failing to appear on a charge of speeding in Scarboro Township. It is charged he was driving at fifty miles an hour.

IDENTIFY TORTURE MEN

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP).—Jacob Miles, theatre manager, today identified Walter Jackow and Joseph Symenyk as the two men who allegedly held him up two weeks ago at his house and tortured him by appiying a cigarette lighter to his feet. Jackow and Symenyk were in court for preliminary hearing on robbery charges. Hearing was adjourned until July 18.

Take Soda Pop as Thirst Quencher In Lieu of Beer

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13. —The soda pop business boomed because of the legalization of beer in Oklahoma. E. L. Reno, blind proprietor of a cigar and drink stand in the state capitol, opened for business at 5:30 a.m. At noon he had sold 912 bottles of pop to the hundreds of sweltering beer licence seekers.

TRAIL RIDERS HITTING TRAIL

Members of Rocky Mountain Order Are Gathering at Lake Louise

BANFF, July 13.—"Now ten years old, the Order of Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies has proved itself a vigorous infant, with eyes agleam for new trails to conquer," said Colonel Phil A. Moore, of Banff, in a reminiscent interview today. This noted hunter, guide, lecturer, Princeton athlete and former president of the Trail Riders, said further that the order is "the last refuge from the tedium of city life and we can promise that every doctor, author, cowboy, professor, business man and Indian chief will forget every care if he joins the four-day ride starting from Lake Louise on July 28."

Founded in 1923 by John Murray Gibbon, Montreal author, the order now has thousands of members in almost every country of the globe, its latest life members being the King and Queen of Siam, who have organized a like order in the Siamese National Parks. The trail ride out this year will follow the Bow River up to Bow Lake, for the first night's camp, with a side trip to Peyto lake. The second day will cover Dolomite Pass to Isabella Lake, where camp will be made. The third day's trek will proceed along the Siffleur River to Camp Number 3, on the Pipestone, and the fourth will mark the return to Lake Louise.

NINE RIDES

"So far as I know," said Colonel Moore, "only three members have made all the nine rides in full—Carl Rungius, the famous animal painter, of New York; Fletcher P. Brady, of Providence, R.I., and myself. Our first ride lasted only one day, covering the high line trail of the Yoho Valley, a route high up among the glaciers and through alpine meadows, thick with wild flowers, and we had distinguished company to boot." Among that pioneer cavalcade were Reginald Townsend, editor of Country Life in New York; the late Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, with Mrs. Walcott, author of the monumental "Wold Flowers of North America"; the late Dr. Cora Best, Minneapolis physician; Richard Kimbel, New York painter; Lady Lougheed, of Calgary; Belmore Browne, painter, of Banff and New York; Mrs. Mary Warren, Banff, authority on wild flowers; Capt. A. H. McCarthy, conqueror of Mount Logan; Kootenay Chief Louis Arbel; Tom Wilson, Banff pioneer and discoverer of Lake Louise; Jim Brewster, Banff, mayor of Banff and now president of the Trail Riders; R. H. Palenske, Chicago artists, and Walter D. Wilcox, of Washington, mountain climber, president of the order for a term and author of the first book on Lake Louise.

POPULARITY GAINS

Since then most of the rides have been four days' long and their popularity has grown steadily. Colonel Moore is surprised only at the dwindling proportion of older persons in the annual rides. "We get plenty of younger people," said the colonel, "but those old-timers could show them a few things about the outdoor life."

WILL RESIST ANY QUOTA LIMITING

New Zealand Dairy Board Strongly Opposed to Limitation of Butter Exports

AUCKLAND, N.Z., July 13 (CP).—The New Zealand Dairy Board today announced its firm opposition to any quota restrictions on the export of New Zealand butter. The quota scheme was suggested by the Government of Premier G. W. Forbes following representations from the United Kingdom on the subject of New Zealand's large butter exports.

The dairy board furthermore stated it would resist any attempt by Great Britain to impose such restrictions, declaring the dairy farmers believe if the New Zealand Government endeavored to enforce the scheme, it would be unseated.

Dies of Broken Neck After Dive

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP). — Clarence Porter, nineteen, of West Georgia Street, died, later today, as the result of a broken neck received while diving from a raft at the foot of Bute Street, today.

According to police, Porter had been diving from the raft, which was anchored outside the restricted area of English Bay patroled by the city, when he apparently struck some object beneath the water. He was taken to hospital, but died on the way.

LUMBER INDUSTRY IN ONTARIO EXPANDING

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Ont., July 13 (CP).—Prosperity is coming to Blind River, and shipments of lumber from the town are increasing by rail and water. During May and June approximately 300 cars were shipped and several boats took loads. Today the steamer Christie is loading 500,000 feet for lower Ontario. Activity is greater in the industry than in any period since 1929.

DRAGON CREW ENTERTAINED

Fine Concert Is Presented by Naval Veterans' Branch for British Sailors

About 200 members of the crew of H.M.S. Dragon crowded the Naval Veterans' clubrooms, last night, when the branch presented a special smoking concert in honor of the visit of the British cruiser. One of the best programmes ever put on at a similar affair was given by members and personnel from the Dragon, and the whole audience expressed its approval at the end of the concert in no uncertain fashion.

President J. Wittcomb welcomed the guests and expressed his pleasure at seeing the members of the crew of the Dragon present in such large numbers. W. H. Dallaway was chairman and conducted the concert in an efficient manner.

One of the greatest personal successes of the evening was scored by "Buster" Brown. He sang several old favorites and brought the house down with the "laughing" song. Frank Merryfield, the "Cornish wizard," was in as good form as ever and earned rounds of applause with his clever conjuring tricks.

Several members of the crew of the Dragon rendered numbers and showed fine talent. A number that was popular was impersonations of well-known music hall comedians by J. Taylor, of Vancouver.

At the conclusion of the programme, Master-at-Arms Crump, of the Dragon, who is completing his last commission, expressed the thanks of the ship's company for the fine entertainment that had been afforded. He stated that this was the first time he had encountered a naval veterans' association and expressed the hope that more branches would be formed. The master-at-arms also stated that he sincerely felt that the hospitality that the Dragon had received was the finest the ship had ever encountered.

The navy boys gave three cheers for the performers and the committee in charge, and the evening closed with the National Anthem.

Those taking part in the programme were as follows: Messrs. Brown, Smith, Moffatt, Merryfield, Johnston, Stewart, Thompson, Taylor, Stark, Gastkin, Wilson and Walter Gaskill. Ramsay's orchestra played selections.

CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATES

The Victoria Conservative Association is overwhelmingly in favor of entering straight Conservative candidates in the forthcoming Provincial election. It is true the decision is to call them Conservative Independents. That course is regarded as being necessary owing to the supine attitude of the Provincial Conservative Executive in having abdicated its inherent authority of proving a guide and director in the fortunes of that organization in British Columbia. The executive adopted a laissez faire policy. It left to the branch associations freedom of choice; in other words, local self determination. It contributed tactily, if not openly, to the splitting up of the Conservative Party of the province into rival camps.

The local Conservatives have chosen a path which should appeal to all of that political faith in this community. Political dissensions, however promoted or for whatever cause, cannot wipe out the Conservative Party. It may be temporarily weakened, but its principles have too strong a hold on the judgment of the people to lead to its dissolution through sporadic apostacy. It has suffered provincially, like all parties, because of a rattled mentality in political thought, because of the failure of people to keep on an even keel whatever may be the strain of economic adversity. The Victoria association is to be congratulated on having decided to keep the flag of Conservatism at its masthead. It remains for it to choose candidates who are strong in that faith and of a calibre who will appeal to the sound common sense of the community.

WHEAT

If a political cloudiness obscures the economic sky in the international sense, if the final results of the activities of the World Economic Conference are in some doubt at the moment, the Canadian people may in the meantime turn with increasing confidence and hope to a feature of the domestic situation which, as everyone is well aware, is, has been, and will long continue to be of prime importance to our prosperity, namely, the condition and prospects of Canadian agriculture.

The recent advance in the price of wheat has set free great quantities of grain lying in elevators and farmers' granaries and money has been put into circulation where it has long been much needed. It is said that the amount of wheat in the hands of the farmers is very considerable. Moreover, the Western wheat crop, although it has suffered to some extent from the effects of extremely hot and dry weather during a brief period, and also from the ravages of grasshoppers in some districts, is reported to be in a fairly prosperous condition, taking the country as a whole. There have been moments of anxiety on account of the uncertainties of the weather, but rains have been general, and in some cases copious, over large areas. The latest press reports from the wheat fields are favorable, and it is reasonable to expect that, as the season is now well advanced and the grain on the highroad to maturity, something more than an average crop will in due time be harvested.

It still remains to be seen how the price of wheat is to be affected by the quantity and quality of world production. There are indications that natural causes will render unnecessary any attempt at artificial restriction of production as proposed in certain quarters. Uncertainty as to this year's world production and the further uncertainty occasioned by the currency situation combine to create much activity on the grain exchanges.

If it should turn out that the Western farmer is to receive a reasonably good price for his grain the effect will shortly be felt in every part of Canada. A prosperous West has always meant a prosperous East.

A FINANCIAL WARNING

It was not from lack of adequate warning that governments drifted into the wasteful expenditures of the post-war years, outlays that have accounted for the heavy taxation from which people now suffer. Those expenditures, as well, contributed towards the era of depression from which the world is now emerging. No vision was shown. The unlimited outlays necessitated by the exigencies of the war encouraged politicians to believe that the people were prepared to stand for any imposts in peace time, when no emergency existed. The consequences have been deplorable, and, naturally, governments have been blamed for their lack of foresight. They were warned, however, and particularly the British Government, in a report presented to the House of Commons by the Committee on Public Accounts on December 9, 1920, and which was quoted by a Comptroller-General of this province in a report which he presented to the late John Oliver in the nature of a warning as to whither this province was drifting. An extract from the British report is as follows:

"The heads of departments should work together as a team in the pursuit of economy in every branch and every detail of the public service. The imperative necessity for securing economy in every department of public (as, indeed, of private) life, if national bankruptcy is to be avoided, is not yet sufficiently recognized. Nothing will accomplish it but a return to the almost forgotten tradition established by Mr. Gladstone, and carried on by Sir Michael Hicks Beach, under whom the financial policy of the State was 'by saving numerous pence to spend effective pounds'. Since their day there has increasingly grown up a feeling that small expenses do not matter, and that it is an almost necessary sign of vitality in a public department, and particularly in a new department, that it shall constantly throw off buds of fresh expenditure which rapidly grow into shoots and branches. This tendency was caused first by the growing consciousness by the nation of its wealth in the years before the war, which made it possible to adopt a forward policy of social reform with no undue strain upon the taxpayer. Then followed the war, during which financial considerations took a very secondary place in the minds of public servants. If any proposal had a reasonable chance of helping to win the war it was, as has been repeatedly shown in evidence before us, held to be justified, almost regardless of its cost. If we are to survive as a solvent nation, the habit of mind produced by a consciousness of wealth and confirmed by war methods must be entirely discarded. As prices fall, the burden upon the community of services which have to be discharged in fixed amounts of money such as the national debt and pensions (amounting together in the present financial year to $494,000,000) will become proportionally heavier. We are no longer a nation with a wide margin of taxable capacity; this margin, indeed, no longer exists. We shall, therefore, as a nation (as will each member of it) very frequently have to say that, however justifiable, and indeed desirable, any proposed expenditure may be, we simply cannot afford it. It is only by such methods, steadily enforced over a considerable period, and by meticulous and constant reviewing even of the details of expenditure, that we can hope to win through to a position of equilibrium between expenditure and taxation."

The World Economic Conference has proved that some of those who ought to be widely travelled display a woeful ignorance. Some of the delegates there have expressed surprise because they found the sun shining in London. They had visualized the city as continuously invested in heavy yellow fog. Those who know London know that the sun can shine there with as beneficient effect as anywhere else. The legend of London weather being inclement is not only discrediting to partial knowledge, but an injustice to the world's greatest city about which anyone, even partially educated, should know something.

It is estimated that half a million words per day are cabled from London about the doings of the World Economic Conference. Of these, 200,000 words are sent daily to this continent. It would seem that hope is sustained on a diet of words, not deeds, for so far the Economic Conference's performances have been absolutely nil. Once again it has demonstrated how news values have become deranged, because in the past it used to be considered that what happens constitutes news and not merely what is said.

The first quarter of the fiscal year of 1933-1934 has marked an increase of $30,000,000 in the revenues of the British Government. In the same period the cost of Government was 25 per cent less than it was for the corresponding quarter of last year. The expansion of revenue is due to trade development. This is illustrated by income of over $22,500.00 in stamp tax receipts and motor imports.

MINE OWN COUNTRY

By the grey of the mist on the moorlands,
By the dreaming sound of rain,
By the calling of the seagulls,
I know I am home again.

By the gold of the sun in the morning,
By the hush in the air at eve,
By the long, slow sigh of the waters,
I know I may never leave.

By the purple and white of the lilac,
By the gold-shining glory of broom,
By the scent—ah! the scent of a lime tree,
By the red of a rose's bloom—

By the grey, and the gold, and the scarlet
I may know I am home again—
And I smile at the voice of the twilight,
And stretch out my arms to the rain.
—Violet G. Woodward, in A Book of George Square Verse.

The greatest defect of common education is that we are in the habit of putting pleasure all on one side, and weariness on the other; all weariness in study, all pleasure in idleness.—Fenelon.

This restless world
Is full of chances, which by habit's power
To learn to bear is easier than to shun.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Our waking dreams are fatal: How I dreamt
Of things impossible! (could sleep no more)
Of joys perpetual in perpetual change!
Of stable pleasures on the tossing waves!
Eternal sunshine in the storms of life!
—Young.

For some years after the end of the war there was a tremendous agitation against secret diplomacy. Von Buelow's memoirs placed secret diplomacy in the spotlight. The learned and accomplished German was Chancellor of the Empire in the years immediately preceding the war, and in his book tells all about his efforts to prevent the outbreak of war and a great deal about the diplomatic indiscretions of the Kaiser. The policy of the Chancellor of the day, like the policy of an earlier day, was to maintain amicable relations with all countries, and sometimes by ways that were dark to promote the interests of Germany in all parts of the world and obtain possession of colonies on remote continents.

But von Buelow, while engaged in intrigues in the interests of Germany, was scheming and intriguing to create jealousies and discords in the other chancellories of the world. Russia and France must be conciliated in respect of their relations with Germany, but must be made distrustful of their relations with each other. France on one frontier was cherishing hopes of revenge, and Russia on the other border was a menace to Germany's secret ambitions. The Empire of the Hohenzollerns on the north was flourishing, but the ancient Empire of the Hapsburgs on the south was verging upon evil days and was administered by feeble hands.

Then there was England. Von Buelow, like his master the Kaiser, feared and distrusted England, although the chronicler admired English institutions, with the exception of British democratic institutions and the straightforward methods of British public men. The ways of British statesmen were past finding out by ordinary deductions of Continental secret diplomatists. There was always a danger that a spark would be fired which would create an explosion in the region of the Balkans. The explosion occurred, and the problem of what England would do had not been solved. Von Buelow states that up to a certain point he was master of the situation, and England would have stayed out of the war but for the indiscretion and the impulses of the Kaiser and the blundering of his then chief counsellor," Bethmann. The incident of the "scrap of paper" is a matter of record.

The end of the war is also a matter of record. There was to be an end of all secret diplomacy. In the affairs of nations all the cards were to be placed on the table, face upward. The late President Wilson of the United States advocated open diplomacy. The present Prime Minister of Great Britain is an apostle of open diplomacy. We sometimes think Mr. MacDonald draws a great deal of his political inspiration and social philosophy from the inspired poems and songs of Robert Burns, who foresaw the day when "man to man the world o'er shall brithers be for a' that." The Prime Minister has been instrumental in the promotion of many international gatherings and conferences, and the culmination of his evangelistic efforts is the International Conference now sitting in London to establish a brotherhood of nations dwelling together in peace and security and doing business with one another upon terms of mutual benefit.

The London Conference was based upon a magnificent ideal, and the purpose of it was noble. Like prohibition in the United States, it was a noble experiment. The prohibition experiment failed because it did not take into consideration the peculiarities and the weaknesses of human nature. The International Conference is not going to be the success expected because it failed to take into consideration the circumstances of the nations represented at it. The delegates to the Conference did not place all their cards on the table after they had met. There was at least one card withheld, and when it was played the great game was lost. Mr. MacDonald did not call the Conference until he had visited the principal countries concerned and believed he had read all the cards, so that no blame attaches to him. It was the unexpected decision of one nation to play a lone hand that upset all the well-meant and well-laid plans.

In connecion with this matter the fact will be remembered that if Burns wrote feelingly about the brotherhood of man he also wrote emphatically about the glorious privilege of being independent. If the individual who is independent is gloriously privileged, is it not possible that a nation may value the privilege of independence? If the United States has decided that she prefers to order her own affairs rather than incur the risk of having her independence limited as a consequence of agreements with other nations, that surely is her own business. International agreements sometimes lead to international complications

Mortgages Regarded As Good Investment

By FEE SIMPLE

At first blush, the subject of mortgages may not seem to be of interest to many people in Victoria, but when one considers the number of investors on the receiving end, probably running into the hundreds, and the home owners on the paying end, certainly running into thousands, the matter is one that concerns quite a lot of our citizens.

During the last real estate boom, from 1910 to 1913, quite a little money was invested in first mortgages here by insurance and mortgage companies, notably on the security of down-town business property, but since that time most of the money for real estate mortgages has come from private investors. This situation does not obtain in most of the other Canadian cities, but it is quite natural to find such a state of affairs in a city where so many people of means have gravitated to make their homes. An investment the security for which can be personally investigated and watched appeals to quite a few people, and the interest rate is also attractive, ruling as it does higher than good bonds. The rate of interest on dwelling house loans rose after the boom to 8 per cent, but a few years ago competition forced it down to 7 per cent. During the present depression, the rate has risen again, and runs generally from 7 1-2 per cent to 8 per cent, although for really good security mortgages have been placed at 7 per cent within the last twelve months. In cases of sales of property, however, the rate on the unpaid balance has been uniform at 7 per cent, at least since 1920. Mortgages taken to cover these unpaid balances are known as "purchase-money" mortgages, to distinguish them from loans obtained by borrowers on the security of real estate, either to complete the building of a home, to meet some obligation or to make some other purchase. Quite a large number of loans were made after the stock market crash of 1929 to people who had clear-title property, and wished to use the money to protect stocks bought on margin.

ON NEW DWELLINGS

The largest number of first mortgage loans have been placed on dwellings when they were first constructed, either by a contractor building for sale, whose capital was not sufficient to complete construction, or by a private individual building a home, who likewise had not enough of his own money to complete it. These mortgages have usually been for a term of three years, and have been placed with private investors by real estate brokers, the investor taking the valuation of the broker as a basis for the amount of the loan, which has usually been for 50 per cent of the value of the completed building, plus the land.

The chief hazard in connection with the investment of money in first mortgages is an excessive valuation. A necessary accompaniment of prosperous times is a demand for money to assist in building. Speculative builders and home-seekers are both willing to take the borrower's risk during such periods, and investors, encouraged to put their money to work, select mortgages, especially as bond interest is usually low at these times. It is just during these periods, however, that property takes on an element of fictitious value, either in the land or in the building. During the boom of 1900-1913 many loans were made on dwellings on appraisals in which the land represented half of the total valuation. The shrinkage in the value of these properties after the boom had burst naturally seriously reduced the margin of security. High building costs in the period 1918-1920 and again in the period 1926-1929 introduced another fictitious element in an appraisal. Loans made during these periods have naturally been a cause of anxiety, and, in some cases, losses to investors and a heavy burden to borrowers during the dull times or actual depressions that followed.

In a later article one or two other factors that have affected first mortgage investments in Victoria will be touched upon, and some improvements in the methods of investments will be suggested.

ALMOST EVERY SHAVE MEANT NICKS AND CUTS, UNTIL—

"I tried this new-type blade specially made for tough beards and rough skins!"

FOR YEARS I dreaded shaving. Little nicks and cuts—the kind you don't see—made my face burn and smart. No amount of care did any good.

"I blamed my tough bristles. I blamed the shaving cream. I blamed everything but the blade.

"Then I bought a package of "BLUE BLADES"—and what a difference! The whiskers came off clean and smooth—no pull or scrape... I'm certainly glad someone made this special kind of blade for hard-to-shave men."

This is the experience of thousands of tough-whiskered men. If your beard is tough, cross-grained, dense—you, too, will find "BLUE BLADES" the answer to your shaving problems.

The "BLUE BLADE" is a sharper, heavier blade—especially tempered and honed to cut through the wiriest stubble. To end your shaving troubles—switch to the remarkable "BLUE BLADE" today!

WANTON DUCK-SHOOTING

Sir,—In reply to Mr. O. Greenwood's letter in this morning's Colonist regarding the wanton destruction of ducks from Billing's Spit at Sooke Harbor, I feel sure that every true sportsman will concur in his remarks that this area should be closed to shooting before the opening of the coming season.

I am writing from personal experience, as I have myself been an offender on different occasions. At the same time I realize that such useless slaughter is not in the best interests of sport or game preservation, and I feel sure there would be no objection raised among sportsmen of Victoria at this practice being stopped immediately.

THE OXFORD MOVEMENT

Sir,—In reading an article concerning the "Oxford Movement Centenary" in your issue dated July 9 last, entitled "Sermon Centenary Is Celebrated by World Anglicans," I note the following expressions: "High Mass of Requiem" and "Pontificial High Mass."

Can you kindly explain to me the significance of these words in connection with the Established Church of England? By reference to my dictionary, I am confounded with the definitions given, namely, "Mass," the communion service in the Roman Catholic Church; "Requiem," a Mass for the dead in the Roman Catholic Church; "Pontificial," belonging to the high priest, or to the Pope.

RONA PLEYDELL COOKE.

"Grantfort," Sooke, B.C., July 10, 1933.

THE OXFORD MOVEMENT

Sir.—On Sunday the Rev. J. K. Unsworth quotes the matter of the Rev. John Keble's sermon one hundred years ago. His Requiem Mass is next Friday. What can these words mean, as contained in the first paragraph except that, after two hundred years Christians are suffering from the deprivations of their privileges, as contained in the valuable Sacraments of the Catholic Church and that they feel they crave for them to be returned.

This Oxford Movement put all those who seriously used their intellect and reason on the right road to the original Christian Faith, as witness Cardinal Newman and many others at that period.

This is all wonderfully described in Cardinal Newman's book "Loss and Gain," wherein he traces the career of a serious-minded and spiritual young man studying at Oxford to take orders in the Anglican Church, and who, more and more each day, feels he cannot subscribe to such complicated and dubious tenets as embodied in the thirty-nine articles which, for the sake of his parents, he continually renews his efforts to swallow and, just as often, is laid low with acute moral and logical indigestion. His misery is abject for he is a well-meaning and sincere young man. His friends at the university see his agony of mind and release him from his obligation there.

He seeks humble lodgings to hide from his offended family and obtain solitude, but because of the suffered scandal his movements have become public and he is visited by a representation of every sect and fancy religion, and thought conceivable who each claim to "understand his case and know that they can give him the necessary comfort." In spite of his despair and misery he only sees in all this an augmentation of his trouble and so shuts them all out as soon as he can.

Finally in his miserable wanderings he finds himself in a Catholic church. He is abashed at the brotherly way he is offered holy water by a man going in at the same time. He doesn't understand this and slinks away behind a pillar to hide himself. But in his hiding place listening to the Rosary and feeling the intensity of the presence of the worshippers he grasps the point.

It is extraordinary that all these good modern people (especially those who have time to discuss theology and religion so much, do not also grasp the point, for it has been made clear for them by such minds as Newman's and very often since his time.

"Yes, sir," agreed the class.

"How is it, then, Brown, that when I am standing upright the blood doesn't run into my feet?"

Brown: "Because your feet ain't empty, sir."

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where discrepancies occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.5 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Bonnheer drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

REACHING THE CORRECT CONTRACT

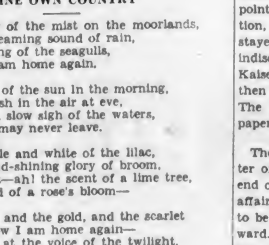

Reaching the correct contract in contract bridge is, generally speaking, a matter of giving and receiving information. Players who love to pre-empt on hands in which the proper opening is an approach bid and who love to force on hands where simple take-outs are in order, find that with tremendous frequency they reach unmakable contracts and play the hand in the wrong suit, or play it in a suit when it should be played in no-trump.

So well understood today are the correct principles of bidding that there is really very little excuse for partners going far wrong in the process of exchanging information, and only in cases where they encounter very unfavorable distribution should large penalties follow any tested partnership bidding.

An interesting example of a splendid exchange of partnership inferences occurred in a recent duplicate game on the hand below:

West, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

West	North	East	South
1♠(1)	Pass	2NT(2)	Pass
3◇(3)	Pass	3♠(4)	Pass
4NT(5)	Pass	5◇(6)	Pass
6NT(7)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. West's hand is almost strong enough for an opening forcing bid of two, but the distribution suggests strongly the wisdom of making an approach bid in preference.

2. East has two alternatives, either a bid of three spades or the one actually chosen—namely, two no trump. Considering the fairly balanced nature of his hand the two no trump response, which, while not forcing, is very strong, appears the better.

3. There is no occasion for West to force in this position. East's first response to his opening call assures him that when he shows added strength by bidding a new suit a game contract at least will be reached.

4. East also knows that there will be further bidding, and while he could now bid four spades he purposely underbids in order to gain further information.

5. West's hand certainly justifies this bid, which shows two aces and the king of a bid suit. West knows now that there is a fit in spades and that a contract of five in one suit or the other would be reasonably safe.

6. East now shows that he can also support the diamonds bid by his partner.

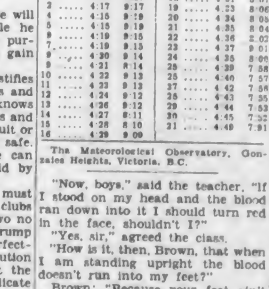

7. West knows that East must hold either the king or ace of clubs to have justification for the two no trump call. The bid of six no trump rather than six in a suit is perfectly correct based on the distribution and on the further fact that the hand was played in a duplicate game scored on the match-point basis.

TOMORROW'S HAND

South is playing a contract of four hearts. West's opening lead is the diamond ten, which is won in the closed hand with the king. If South now returns the club seven, what card should West play, and why?

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article

THE COLONIST IN LONDON

The Colonist may be procured at the International News Stand of Messrs. Selfridge & Co., Oxford Street

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of July 14, 1883)

Port Moody Railway—The trestle work crossing several little valleys and streams between Port Moody and Pitt River is now about completed and ready for the laying down of temporary rails. The Pitt River bridge itself is being pushed forward again. This structure has fifty-four spans in all—forty spans of fifteen feet each, seven of forty-five feet each, and seven of 125 feet each. There is in addition one draw span which brings the total length of the bridge to 1,845 feet. The bridge is expected to be completed for the running of trains in September. All other railway bridges farther up the line are being pushed forward with utmost speed.

Yale and District—Thomas Brennis was robbed at Kanaka Bar of $270 in cash, promissory notes, a silver watch and chain and a gold ring, while asleep. The heat above Boston Bar is intense. Thomas Spratling was badly burned near Boston Bar yesterday when a Giant powder shot exploded. Accounts from the crops are very gloomy. Bush fires are raging near Hope.

Opera Store—Robert Sinclair has opened a fruit, vegetable, tobacco and cigar store on Fort Street, near Government. It is expected Mr. Sinclair will combine other goods with his present stock in the near future.

Sham Battle—On Monday afternoon a sham battle will take place between sailors and marines of H.M.S. Swiftsure at Beacon Hill Park. The ship's band will attend.

Build Great Tiers Of Seats to Serve Crowd at Funeral

Thousands of Corpses Stored in Godowns and Warehouses in Siamese Capital Awaiting Opportune Time for Wholesale Cremation

By GORDON SINCLAIR

BANGKOK, Siam.—In Siam's sunny seaside capital there are seventy-three millionaires, 40,000 fortune tellers and a million lizards; but the main street sports no sidewalk.

Siam's king has 200 automobiles, 2,000 living relatives and the most valuable statue on earth; but he can't lay a cornerstone, open a baby show or take a bath unless the court stargazers give it the okay.

Once a year, whether he needs it or not, the king gets a bath out in a field, while admiring subjects whoop.

In Bangkok, thousands of corpses are stored away in godowns and warehouses, other thousands are perked under beds or up in the rafters of houses. The folk just like to keep them around. In Bangkok there are men whose job is crunching human bones. In Bangkok you can see 10,000 naked kiddies, in a drive lasting an hour; but if you or the kiddies want to visit the sacred white elephants—which are about the same shade of white as coal is—you have to be dressed up in a clean suit complete with collar, tie and long pants. Shorts or knickers get you the bum's rush from the elephant house.

As I rolled up the long, dusty street from Bangkok's docks, behind a sort of pancake-faced driver whose main ambition in life seemed to be the wounding of rickshaw coolies, my one idea was to blow this town fast and far. It seemed dusty and smelly; full of people with sore legs and bleeding mouths. It was noisy as a sideshow, hot as an oven and cluttered up with Buddhist priests in bilious yellow.

I strolled along the lumpy, bumpy cobble-stones of the main street and into the postoffice. It was a big, rambling sort of teakwood shack peopled by amiable brown boys who laughed and chatted away in English. Outside were great, spreading shade trees, positively riotous with color. The perfume was gorgeous. I picked up three gloomy letters, seven weeks old. Mother and Dad were both sick. So I wrote a cable. "Canada?" the brown boy said. "Wouldn't it be a jolly lark to telephone to Canada?" If I'd shut my eyes I would have sworn I was standing in the postoffice at Oxford, not Siam.

HALF LIVE IN BOATS

"You know," he went on, "we have very low rates to Canada, and fast service. We can get your house in an hour for fifty-four tiscals (twenty dollars). "I still sent the cable, but felt better. One hour from home by telephone! The world sure gets smaller.

I hiked along the busy river. Tens of thousands of small boats splashed and twisted their way in and out of canals and channels. Yachts and junks bumped into shark-shaped sampans with eyes painted on them so they could see where to go. A barge loaded with black pigs floated toward sea. Cattle were being led across, only their horns and noses above water. Women pounded their clothes on rocks; two big brown lizards in a tree shouted "tokay" to each other.

Up the side streets it was like Holland, miles and miles of canals, occasional bridges slung across on ropes, occasional rickety sidewalks high on rotting stilts. The sewage of a festering, simmering Oriental city oozed slowly down toward the river. Half the population seemed to be living in boats.

NONE ALLOWED TO STARVE

Temples, called wats here, seemed to jut out at every corner. I went into several of them and was treated with quiet, friendly courtesy. All the architectural glories were outside. Inside were just Buddhas—an average of six or seven Buddhas to each room—with yellow-clad monks sitting around them.

Out in the courtyards were a higgledy-piggledy mass of sick and sore animals, cats and dogs, misshapen goats and cows, blind or deformed humans.

"You know," a gimlet-eyed little priest said, "the world just now is in terror of itself. Men lack food and have no jobs. They worry and fret, shoot themselves and curse. But in Siam we have no problems. The temples of Lord God Buddha are open to everybody night and day. No living thing has ever been turned away hungry from a temple. No priests of this or any other Siamese temple owns anything beyond the one yellow rag on his body. Yet we feed the multitude, care for the sick, clothe the naked."

"But how? How can you feed without food?" "How do the stars shine, my friend? Not by worry, not by accident. There is a destiny for every man born of woman. It is written in the stars. And it is not written that he should starve or worry or shoot himself."

EVERY MAN A PRIEST

I remembered then the pre-dawn foraging of countless monks, afoot and in canoes. By the thousands they skim up and down klongs and canals, harvesting the day's food. Nothing is taken for use beyond that single day; no priest gets a cent of money for his task. He only eats twice a day, he sleeps on concrete or mud floors, and every man in all Siam, at some time, must be a temple priest.

Outside in the courtyard they were building an elaborate sort of playhouse. It was decked up in flowers and ribbons, daubed with gaudy paint and fatalistic slogans.

"What's this for?" I asked. "A cremation. We will be burning some bodies . . . some are here." He pointed to short boxes splashed with paint; to a few jars sitting outside. "These are some bodies," he said.

"How long have they been here?" "Oh, different times; one month, one year, six years, four years. Different times."

"Depending on what?" "On the family. A man dies, he is much loved. His family does not wish to part with him. Formerly they kept him in the house many years. But that was unhealthy, doctors said. Now many people still keep the bodies, but mostly they are put in warehouses and in temples."

PAY STORAGE ON BODIES

"Warehouses? You mean people pay storage on dead bodies year after year?"

"Of course, my friend. There are thousands and thousands stored in warehouses."

I tipped back the wooden lid of a round, blue jar, one something like Jiggs gets smashed over his head. Slumped down with its head between its knees, arms folded and legs tucked underneath, was what had once been a man.

I hope all this doesn't shock you. It did make me turn pretty grey around the gills. "That's one we must still keep," the priest said. "Why, are the stars not right for the burning?"

"No," he said, "the body is not right—see." He put his hand inside the bowl and . . . . Well, never mind. Let's forget it.

I wandered out to where the workers were putting up the dead man's doll house. They had already put up tiers of seats like they have in a circus. Imagine getting a seat in the bleachers to see a bonfire of bodies, and only an hour from Islington by telephone!

An awning was slung up over seats reserved for families of the dead. A Chinaman sold firecrackers and roman candles in a corner, and seven golden Buddhas stared down in contemplative serenity.

TAXES COME IN WELL THIS YEAR

Oak Bay Showing Is Regarded as Satisfactory in View of Existing Conditions

While there has been a slight falling off this year in the payment of taxes in Oak Bay within the time which allows for no penalty to be assessed, the municipal staff and the financial committee of the council regard the situation as satisfactory, having regard to the financial conditions prevailing generally.

As compared with 1932 the tax payments up to June 30 this year show under the heading of current taxes $155,899.17 for 1933 and $161,945.85 for 1932. The receipts for this year represent 76.78 per cent of the levy, while last year it was at the same time 80.35 per cent. The arrears this year are $5,448.43 at June 30, while last year the arrears were $4,693.71 at the same date.

It is pointed out that considerable tax payments are still coming in, and, in view of the fact that the penalty is not as heavy for the first part of the year following June 30 as it was for the corresponding period last year, it is possible that some are meeting other pressing demands while allowing the taxes to accumulate with the smaller penalty.

KINGLY WAY FOR CHINESE

Principles of Wangtao Supported by Influential Groups in South

Five Chinese, three of them believed to be representatives of the so-called "Preparatory Committee for the Pan-Asiatic Society" which has been formed by a section of the Kuomintang in Canton who are disgruntled with the present policy of ardent nationalism and are in favor of an "Asiatic Munroe Doctrine," and the other two, their bodyguards, passed through Shanghai recently on their way to Japan on a Japanese vessel. None of the five left the ship at Shanghai, and all were reluctant to attract attention, according to the North China Daily News.

What their mission in Japan will be is as yet a matter of conjecture. It is known, however, that their movement has gained some support in the Southwest and it is reported that some of its sponsors have been in touch with Japanese officials over the matter. Tokio recently threw some more light on the movement.

"The Asiatic Monroe Doctrine, based on the principles of 'Wangtao,' or the kingly way, which is the guiding policy of Manchukuo, is now upheld as the only alternative to save China from the present disruption and disorganization by a growing number of merchants and students in Canton, according to reliable reports reaching Tokio," the message stated.

GROUP ORGANIZED

"A movement aiming at realizing the 'Asia for the Asiatics' policy has already been started by followers of the Pan-Asiatic cause in Canton, who are represented by members of the Southwestern Kuomintang, the propaganda corps for South Seas Chinese merchants, and the Society of Returned Students from Japanese universities. It is said the supporters of the movement have recently organised themselves in a single group styled 'The Preparatory Committee for the Pan-Asiatic Society.'

"Handbills distributed by this organization show that the followers of the movement urge the creation of a Great Asia League, through China's immediate recognition of Manchukuo and the subsequent cooperation of China, Manchukuo and Japan."

While the movement appears to be still in its infancy, observers in Tokio attach considerable significance to it in view of the fact that it is the first spontaneous sign of an influential group of Chinese, who themselves were the principal supporters of the Kuomintang in its genesis, showing a definite inclination to return to their native faith based upon Confucianism rather than to clinging to beliefs imported from the West.

"It should be remembered in this connection that, recently, there have been reports from the South Seas that Chinese merchants resident in this area have started a movement emphasizing the necessity for adopting Confucianism as the national moral principle of China," the Tokio message concludes.

THIS GENERAL MOTORS 2-TON TRUCK MADE
13.82 miles per gallon ON HOME GAS

HERE'S Proof!

ANYONE familiar with the gasoline consumption of heavy trucks will readily admit that 13 miles per gallon is far above the average. A recent test carried out by a 2-ton truck owned by Fox's Transfer, using Home Gas taken from the pump at 41st and Granville, gave this remarkable mileage. The truck was a 1933 model by General Motors, barely broken in and in no way specially prepared for the test.

Home Gas is made in the modern refinery of HOME OIL DISTRIBUTORS LTD. on the North Shore of Burrard Inlet, owned and operated by the only 100% B.C. company manufacturing gasoline in B.C.

Fire Destroys Buildings at Wayside Mine

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—Fire late Wednesday afternoon practically destroyed all the buildings and compressor house at the Wayside Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., camp located at Bridge River, 135 miles north of Vancouver.

The blaze, which is believed to have started from a gasoline engine in the compressor house, caused damage estimated at $10,000.

FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of the late Robert Gladstone will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. A. deB. Owen officiating. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

TARIFF BOARD GIVES FINDINGS

First Decisions Are Handed Down—Refuses to Assume Parliament Redundant

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—The tariff board today refused to assume that Parliament was ever redundant and gave judgment accordingly. The board held its first public hearing when it performed the duties transferred to it from the Customs Board.

In the past when importers or other interests affected were dissatisfied with the ruling by customs officials as to the classification which certain imports received and consequently the rate of duty imposed, appeals could be taken to the Customs Board. It would review the department's decisions. This work was passed over to the new tariff board, and the first sitting dealt with seven such appeals. Two were referred back to have department officials review. Judgments on two were reserved, one was dismissed and one was allowed.

BOARD'S FUNCTIONS

Hon. G. H. Sedgewick presided, and during the course of the proceedings announced the board considered its functions were to interpret the meaning of the language used in the tariff items, and rule accordingly. This assertion was prompted by the suggestion that the new board might be more liberal in its interpretation of the meanings of the tariff items than was the Customs Board.

The board could not take into consideration whether the tariff on a certain import ought not be lowered to increase importations, or boosted to give an industry protection. It was bound to interpret the law as it stood, the chairman said.

The question of hair and sleeping nets brought out the board's decision that it could not assume Parliament was ever redundant. One of the items in the tariff covers silk "nets and netting." Importers of hair nets and sleeping nets contended that covered their products.

DEPARTMENT'S VIEWS

A. C. Williams, textile adviser for the department, took the position that "nets and netting" meant piece goods, not completed nets.

"Why are the words 'nets and netting' used?" asked Commissioner Milton Campbell, "if it does not include complete nets."

"They are redundant," Mr. Williams replied. "They are left out of the item as last submitted to Parliament, and Parliament put them back in. They are not needed there at all."

"We cannot assume that, when it put in these two words, it contended them to mean completed nets in the one case and net fabric in the other."

The board granted the appeal of the importers, which means that instead of a duty of 50 per cent and 7 cents an ounce in one case, and 45 per cent in the other, the hair and sleeping nets will come in under a 35 per cent tariff.

Hunter Killed by His Son-in-Law

HEARST, Ont., July 13 (CP).—J. Payeur, of this town, was accidentally shot and killed by his son-in-law, Adolphus Poulin, near Hale. The men were hunting and Payeur shot at a moose and then stepped in front of Poulin's gun just as he fired at the wounded animal. He was killed instantly.

Tries to Steal Smallest Bible

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP).—A thief attempted to steal the smallest Bible in the world from a miniature church in the Hall of Religion at the World's Fair. The thief broke the lock of the church only to find the Bible had been removed to a vault.

BOWSER AND HARDINGE WILL ADDRESS MEETING

At what is anticipated will be a capacity meeting, W. J. Bowser and Major J. B. Hardinge, nominee for the Islands constituency, will speak at Sidney tonight at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held at Stacey's Hall and a large attendance is anticipated. G. H. Walton, manager of the Sidney Lumber Company, will be in the chair.

MUST STAND TRIAL ON LOTTERY CHARGE

VANCOUVER, July 13.—G. Morris, promoter of the Canadian Hospitals Auxiliary, was committed for trial this morning by Deputy Police Magistrate J. A. Findlay, before whom he appeared on a charge of conducting a lottery in connection with an alleged sweepstake.

VICTIMS OF CRASH

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., July 13 (CP).—Dan Bronson, forty-four, of Kemptville, and Harry Acton, thirty-four, of Acton's Corners, were fatally injured when their car left the highway and turned over in the ditch near Beckett's Landing last night. It is believed Acton, the driver, lost control of the car when a rear tire blew out.

CELEBRATING IN PARIS

PARIS, July 13 (AP).—There was dancing in the streets tonight as France opened a three-day celebration of Bastille Day, the great national fete. A picturesque torchlight parade was held in the principal streets here.

An inveterate drinker turned up at the office one day wearing a blue ribbon in his buttonhole. "Great Scot!" exclaimed a friend when he saw the ribbon. "You don't mean to tell me that you've signed the pledge?" "Well, it certainly looks like it, doesn't it?" replied the other. "But what's the idea?" asked his friend. "Well, it's like this, old man," said the other in a hushed whisper, "I wear the ribbon because it makes men tempt me, and when they tempt me I yield."

Want a Flight? Wiley Post Is Taking Offers

NEW YORK, July 13.—If you want to be a passenger with Wiley Post on his around-the-world flight, the fare is $35,000. If you have that much and insist upon passage, Post and his managers will think up some new discouragement, maybe a higher fare.

Dr. Martin M. Schor, a surgeon dentist, made application to be a passenger last night. Lee Trenholm, Post's manager, set the fare at $35,000. Dr. Schor offered $10,000. Post already had rejected an offer of $15,000 from an Oklahoma woman.

"As a matter of fact," Trenholm said, "Post wouldn't take a passenger for twice $35,000."

FINNISH AVIATOR CANCELS FLIGHT

Captain Waino Bremer, After 16,000 Miles of Flying, Abandons Ocean Hop

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—Bronzed by sun and wind after 16,000 miles of flying, which would have taken him more than half-way around the world if it had not been for international complications, Captain Waino Bremer, young Finnish aviator, brought his monoplane to rest at the Ottawa air station late today. His Atlantic flight is canceled.

Captain Bremer left Finland on May 1, intending to fly his small all-metal plane, which took him to Capetown and back last year, around the world. After successfully navigating the route over Germany, Arabia, Persia, India and China, he finally arrived at Yokohama. From there he intended to fly to Vladivostok, in Siberia, and so on to Nome, Alaska. However, Russian officials refused to allow him to fly up the east coast, so he was forced to ship his plane to San Francisco, from whence he flew to Ottawa.

Asked why he planned the trip, he replied: "Oh, I like to fly—and I do it for the honor of Finland."

BENNETT AT BRISTOL TO UNVEIL PLAQUE

LONDON, July 13.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, of Canada, will visit Bristol tomorrow to unveil a memorial plaque on a house once occupied by the first Earl of Durham. The plaque, recording the earl lived there as a pupil of Dr. Beddoes, recalls that as Canada's Governor-General in 1838 "his famous report inspired all subsequent colonial policy." Mr. Bennett will also receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Law from Bristol University.

City and District

Case Remanded — John Burns, charged with having been found carrying a pistol on his person contrary to the code, was remanded until today, on the request of R. C. Lowe, who acted as city prosecutor, in the absence of Claude A. Harrison.

Ottawa Visitor—C. E. Campbell, of Ottawa, who is associated with the Royal Canadian Mint, is on an official visit to Victoria in connection with the assistant receiver general's office here. Mr. Campbell is in charge of the currency department of the monetary operations of the Dominion.

Building Permit—A permit for the construction of a home at 1333 Fairfield Road, was issued yesterday, by City Building Inspector James Barf, to Mrs. L. P. Noble. The home will be a frame and stucco building, containing eight rooms. A. W. B. Jones is the contractor. The estimated cost of the dwelling is $4,500.

Special Meeting—A special meeting of the City Council has been called for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, for the purpose of introducing the $227,000 refunding issue by-law. This by-law requires twe meetings to be passed. As soon as it is given final passage the bonds will be printed and the campaign for selling them over the treasury department counter prepared.

To Inspect Dykes — Provincial engineers will leave for the Mainland, on Friday, to carry out an inspection of the Nicomen Island dyking system, where seepage is reported; and to examine erosion of the Fraser's banks at the Lulu Island protection works. High water in the Columbia, Fraser and Thompson Rivers has placed many dyking areas under strain. The pressure is believed to be easing considerably.

Given Jail Term—Joseph Martin appeared in the police court, yesterday morning, to answer to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. He pleaded guilty but made a request that the court show leniency as he was interested in a boat which had just been fitted up. Magistrate informed him that under the law, in view of the fact that he had been previously convicted, there was no choice left to him and accordingly he sentenced the accused to thirty days in jail.

Want Park Protected—Chilliwack City and District officials, under Mayor Barber, called yesterday on Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Minister of Lands and Education, to urge extention of Provincial protection over an area of timber bordering Cultus Lake, and adjacent to the existing Cultus Lake Park operated by the municipalities. The timber concerned is on land deeded over by the Dominion to the Province in the transfer of railway belt lands. Some portions of it have been alienated, leaving divided control of the whole area. Sympathetic consideration was promised.

Granted Indemnity — Former Reeve W. A. Pritchard and other Burnaby officials, who were promised indemnity from the consequences of certain irregularities that took place in connection with the administration of by-law funds in that area, received that protection this week through the proclamation of the special act passed by the last session of the Legislature. As a precedent to indemnification, the former corporation officials had first to settle with a ratepayer in respect to his costs. This, it was stated by the Attorney General's Department, has been done.

W. B. DILLABOUGH IS BADLY HURT

Has Two Ribs Broken in Motorcycle Accident at Rodeo Held in Duncan

Wilfred B. Dillabough, 3010 Quadra Street, is showing signs of improvement, hospital attendants at Duncan stated last night, when asked regarding condition of the youth, who was injured in an accident during the motorcycle rodeo staged at Duncan by the Victoria Motorcycle Club.

Dillabough suffered two broken ribs when the side car of a motorcycle struck him. The youth was stooping down and allowing motorcycle riders to lift the side cars of their machines off the ground and over his back. The second attempt failed and Dillabough had to be taken to the hospital for medical attention.

The youth is well known in this city, and is an experienced motorcycle rider.

BEER PARLOR ENTERED; $742 IN CASH TAKEN

VANCOUVER, July 13.—A clever cracksman some time early this morning escaped with $742 from the strong box in the Kingston Beer Parlor, 755 Richards Street.

Investigation by detectives revealed that the front door lock had been picked and the yegg worked out the combination of the safe, obtaining the money without resorting to blasting methods.

No fingerprints were found on the dial by police, who rushed to the scene immediately after the robbery was discovered by H. E. Stafford, caretaker.

The Veteran's Corner

The Army and Navy Veterans' Association will hold a smoking concert in the clubrooms, Fort Street, at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, for the ship's company of H.M.S. Dragon, which is visiting port from the West Indies station.

HAVE PICNIC AT ELK LAKE PARK

First Annual Outing of United Purity Stores Gives Employees Much Enjoyment

The first annual picnic arranged by the United Purity Stores took place on Wednesday afternoon at Elk Lake Park, about seventy turning out to enjoy an afternoon of sports and games.

A very attractive programme of novelty events had been arranged for young and old by the sports committee, John Taylor, J. Purdy and W. Pedder. The pop-drinking, spike-driving, and tieing the gents' tie, and ladies' events caused lots of fun, as also did the barrel-boxing competition for men and ladies. The softball game, captained by Edgar and Leslie Stonier, drew a big crowd and plenty of comment, personal and otherwise, with the result still undecided.

Supper was served at 5:30, after which Mr. Oxley, of W. H. Malkin Co., Vancouver, presented the very acceptable prizes provided by the prize committee, Messrs. Scott and Stewart.

A tombola drawing followed, when a liberal supply of good things were handed out to the lucky ones.

A vote of thanks to the W. H. Malkin Co. and Victoria staff, also the various committees for arranging such a splendid day of enjoyment was proposed by Mr. Deaville and was given hearty and vigorous response.

LAID TO REST

The funeral of Mrs. Eleanor Elishua Hinckler was held, yesterday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, at Christ Church Cathedral, where service was conducted by Very Rev. Dean Quainton. The hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Lead, Kindly Light," were sung. A large number of friends attended and flowers covered the casket and hearse. The following were pallbearers: C. D. Munn and J. G. Hay, representing the I.O.O.F., F. W. Nolte, Percy Walls, A. C. Melhuish and E. J. Diespecker. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Little Bedtime Stories

Peter Looks for Piper

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Peter Rabbit didn't go home to the dear Old Brier Patch the morning after he heard the voice of Piper the Hyla for the first time. Usually when he spent a night in the Green Forest he got back to the dear Old Brier Patch by daylight or a little before. But this time he didn't go home at all. He went straight over to the Smiling Pool instead. It wasn't the safest place in the world to be in the daytime, but Peter was willing to run a little risk for the sake of seeing Piper the Hyla, and he knew that he never would be able to find Piper in the night. It was hard enough in daylight.

So Peter was on the bank of the Smiling Pool when jolly, round, red Mr. Sun threw off his rosy blankets and began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. The Black Shadows fled from the Jolly Little Sunbeams, the birds began to waken, which means that they began to sing, for the very first thing a bird does when it opens its eyes in the morning is to call or sing. It was lovely there at the Smiling Pool listening to all of the joyous sounds. Peter almost forgot what had brought him there.

Then out from the Smiling Pool, sweet, sweet and clear and surprisingly loud, came another voice to join in the happy chorus to greet the day. "Peep, peep, peep, peep, peep, peep!" Peter grinned. Piper the Hyla was very much awake, and it was good, oh so good, to hear him.

Peter stamped on the bank. Instantly Piper's voice stopped. Peter grinned again. "He's just the same timid little chap he always was," thought Peter. "It always surprises me that one so timid should sing so loudly. I suppose it is because he knows just how hard it is to tell exactly where his voice really does come from. When he begins to sing again I'll look for him."

So Peter waited and presently Piper began to pipe once more. Peter stole to the very edge of the Smiling Pool and looked with all his might. He looked so hard that he forgot everything else. So when Jerry Muskrat suddenly asked him what he was staring at so hard, Peter was so startled that he nearly fell into the Smiling Pool. There was a look of foolishness on his face as he replied:

"Nothing, Jerry. Just nothing at all. I am trying to look at something and can't see it."

Jerry laughed.

"You are honest anyway, Peter," said he. "Tell me what you are trying to see and perhaps I can help you find it."

"You are honest anyway, Peter," said he.

"Piper the Hyla," replied Peter with great promptness. "Sometimes it seems to me that Piper must be just a voice and nothing else. Of course, I know this isn't so, because I found him last Spring. I know he's real and I know he is somewhere right in front of me here in the Smiling Pool, but he's the hardest person to see I know of. I think he might show himself when a fellow has come all the way over here to make a friendly call as I have. Just listen to that voice of his! It seems to come from over there on the other side of the Smiling Pool, it seems to come from behind the Big Rock, and it seems to come from right under my feet. Was there ever anything more provoking?"

Peter stamped with impatience and instantly Piper stopped piping.

"What did you do that for?" demanded Jerry Muskrat of Peter. "Don't you know Piper is one of the most timid of all who live in the Smiling Pool? For my part I like to hear him pipe, and I should suppose you would when his message is such a joyous one."

"I do, Jerry, I do," replied Peter humbly. "I didn't mean to frighten him. I'll keep perfectly still now and perhaps he'll begin to pipe again."

So Peter sat perfectly still and sure enough presently Piper began again.

Ship's Company Presents Splendid Entertainment

Big Audience at Shrine Auditorium Vociferously Applauds Comic and Other Clever Turns by Entertainers From H.M.S. Dragon

If the swallowing of small boys by lions were always interpreted in such comic vein as was done by Lieut. Bartelot in "Albert 'n t' Lion" in the splendid entertainment given by the ship's company of H.M.S. Dragon at the Shrine Auditorium last night, life would assume a much more joyous prospect for anxious mothers. Albert was one of the precocious kind, and, although warned not to worry the lion, he did so, and disappeared in the twinkle of an eye down the beast's throat. The rest of the story isn't concerned with Albert at all, but with the commotion made by Albert's parents (in very strong Wiganese dialect) to get compensation for their own wounded feelings and for the perfectly good new suit that vanished with Albert.

This was all extremely funny. And equally funny turns preceded and followed this turn in the hilariously entertaining two hours' programme. The entertainment, under the direction of Commander Temple, opened with a pot-pourri of stirring popular tunes played by the splendid little ship's orchestra, and included a delightful miscellany of humorous and serious vocal solos, dances, sketches, monologues, sleight-of-hand, club and cutlass swinging, and other details, every one of which was first rate. Ship's don't possess girls, but the Dragon manufactures them to order, and a chorus of spirited blonde "beauties," with natty costumes composed of white vestees, pink ballet skirts and silken hose, gave the finishing touch to a well-rounded company.

OPENING CHORUS

The "ladies" introduced an effective touch to the opening and closing choruses, filling in the background or foreground with their animated dancing. The opening number was "O Dear, Look Who's Here," sung by Able Seaman Chaillinor and his "Hello Everyone" chorus.

There followed Chief Stoker Osborne's dolorously humorous "Confession" and the "Parsons of Puddle," three lugubrious "clergy," impersonated by Seamen Rogers and Beagley and Able Seaman Kingsford, who provoked much laughter. Midshipman Bell made his first of several comical appearances in the role of announcer at this point, and was followed in quick succession by Bandmaster Perkins, possessor of a magnificent natural bass voice, in "Will o' the Wisp" and "Roll On, Blue Ocean"; Able Seamen Ridge and Street and Boy Smith in a comical playlet written by A.B. Ridge; then Lieut. Bartelot in "Albert 'n t' Lion"; A.B. Lowson in a showy cutlass swinging turn, done to music; an unusually good male soprano, A.S. Cooper, singing "Dusk and the Twilight" and "Sometimes". Midshipmen Forbes and Barton and A.B. Street in the sketch "There's No Santa Claus"; and the snappy duet and chorus, "That's Why I'm Happy" and "Sing, Brothers and Sisters."

SECOND PART

The second part in some respects surpassed the first in its humor and variety. Midshipmen Bell and Barton introduced it, following the infectiously tuneful humming chorus, with a bibulous little sketch that took well with the audience; and were immediately followed by the riotously funny "Herb and Liza" duet presented by Chief Stoker Osborne and A.B. Cooper, both fine comedians, the latter as a lady with facile blandishments and a very much befeathered hat. Lieut. Bartelot and Midshipman Forbes' brief sketch preceded an exceedingly busy and amusing conjuring turn by Leading Seamen Rogers and Beagley, who produced gin, rice and peas out of eggs, conjured a shilling from inside a handkerchief at one side of the stage to the core of an apple on the other, and other equally clever performances.

A. B. Northam proved one of the arch comedians of the evening in his impersonation of a chaplain, the play of his hands and facial expression being works of art. He was followed by A.B. Lowson in an illuminated club swinging act that was received with much applause.

Midshipman Mell and others in a sketch; A.B. Kemp, an oleaginous-jointed contortionist dancer; and Lieut. Bartelot and chorus, brought the merry entertainment to a merry conclusion.

Pianoforte Pupils Are In Concert

Pupils of Miss Gertrude Straight, L.A.B., A.T.C.M., entertained an audience of mothers and other intimate friends with a very enjoyable recital recently. During the afternoon, announcements were made regarding Summer classes and plans for the Fall term. After the programme, games were played and tea was served on the lawn.

The recital included piano and vocal solos, and a vocal duet, the pianoforte work being particularly interesting and testifying to admirable tuition in the fundamentals of music technique and grammar, while the selection of pieces fitted to the capacities of the player showed excellent discrimination.

Those contributing pianoforte solos were: Helen Brethour, Mae White, Muriel and Barry Hall, Jean Small, Betty Hall, Eileen Jeffrey, Margaret Cutchley, Jean Straight, Patsy Gray, Don McNeil, Effie Hughes, and Miss G. Straight; the vocal soloist was Helen Brethour; the vocal duettists, Jean and Sheila Small, and the vocal trio, Helen Brethour, and Jean and Sheila Small.

St. Columba W.A. Has Garden Fete

A delightful afternoon was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Comley at Royal Oak vicarage on Tuesday afternoon, where a garden party had been arranged, the proceeds from which would go to augment the funds of St. Columba Church, Strawberry Vale. Tables were hidden amidst bowers of beautiful roses and the good things displayed on home-cooking and candy stalls were quickly disposed of. A brisk business was done with afternoon tea, the tables being laid among cool surroundings. A committee of ladies from St. Columba W.A. waited upon the guests, Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Stacey and Mrs. Nix. Mrs. Strafford sold candy, Miss Brown and Mrs. Gilham home-cooking and miscellaneous articles. Games were looked after by Messrs. Chalmers, Fensham and R. and C. Hills. The sum of $38 was realized and will be gratefully acknowledged by the churchwardens.

Vancouver Raises Street Car Fares

VANCOUVER, July 13.—Price of school children's street car tickets will be increased on September 1 to eight for twenty-five cents, according to a letter from President W. G. Murrin, of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., read at Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the civic finance committee. The present rate of ten tickets for twenty-five cents was granted by the company in July, 1932, for a period of one year. Previously the rate was eight for twenty-five cents.

Y.W.C.A. BOARD MEET

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A. will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Junior Yacht Club to Give Flannel Dance

Under the auspices of the junior members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, a flannel dance will be held at the clubhouse, Uplands, tonight. The airy clubrooms look particularly inviting in the evenings after such warm weather as has been experienced during the past few days, and with their decorations of club and signal flags, greenery, and flowers, have been made very festive for the dance tonight. A three-piece orchestra will give an up-to-date programme of music, and supper will be served an hour or so before midnight, to give time for the dance to resume its full zest before breaking up at 1 o'clock.

The committee in charge of the arrangements comprises R. L. C. Branson, commodore of the junior club; Miss Joan Campbell, vice-commodore, and Horace Miller, secretary.

Announcement was made yesterday of the annual junior regatta, to be held tomorrow afternoon, with tea in the clubhouse afterwards.

Clubs-Societies

St. Aidan's W.M.S.

An interesting meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Aidan's United Church was held recently in the attractive gardens of Mrs. Thomson, Feltham Road. After the singing of a hymn and the Lord's Prayer, a Scripture reading was given by Miss Irvine. Mrs. Dawson gave some meditation on the story of Ruth. A report of the meeting at Fairfield, where the supplies were viewed, was given by Mrs. F. Jennings. Stories of missionaries serving in the foreign fields were given by Rev. H. S. Armitage. Prayer by Mrs. Armitage followed. After the necessary business had been concluded, refreshments were served by the hostess, and a pleasant social time followed. The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Haley, Gordon Head Road.

Victorian Order June Report Has Record of Cases

The Victorian Order of Nurses' June report, read at the meeting of the V.O.N. board this week, showed a total of 200 patients nursed during the month, representing 1,110 visits, 950 of which were free.

The figures analyzed as follows: Of the total 200 patients nursed, 80 were medical cases, 33 communicable diseases, seven surgical, two infants of obstetrical 55 pre-natals, 14 post-natals, and nine special health instruction.

The 1,110 visits classify as follows: 69 pre-natals, 32 obstetrical, 28 post-natal, 16 pneumonia, 30 tuberculosis, 83 other communicables, 79 cancer, 286 not classified, four delivery, eight clinic, 182 child welfare, 223 instructive (including T.B.), and twelve on behalf of patients.

WARNING GIVEN TO SUN BATHERS

PARIS (CP).—Attention of sun bathing enthusiasts to the dangers of immoderate exposure of the skin to sunshine has been called in a statement issued by Professor Jansion of the Vol de Grace Hospital in Paris.

Overexposure, besides involving the risk of sunstroke, he says, has been found to be the cause of a number of skin maladies. Sunshine, like food, says Professor Jansion, needs to be taken moderately and thoroughly digested to be healthful. Overdoses often result in a kind of skin cancer that is frequently found among fishermen and farm workers. Fourteen per cent of the cases of cancer of the skin treated in the hospitals of Marseilles have been traced to sunburn, the report states.

Officers of Colfax Lodge Are Installed

Sister Edith R. V. Todd, president of Rebekah Assembly, with an escort of officers from the Rebekah Assembly and Grand Lodge, were welcomed at a meeting of Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1 on Tuesday evening. Sister Todd gave a talk on the welfare work of the order. A beautiful silver teapot and a hot-water jug were presented to her at Grand Lodge when she assumed the office of president. These gifts were from Colfax Lodge and the Cheer Club, of each of which she is a member.

The district deputy president, Sister Rhoda Ozard, conducted the installation of officers, assisted by Deputy Marshall Sister Marie Power, Sister Alyce Brown, deputy warden; Sister Charlotte Edwards, deputy recording secretary; Sister Nancy Barr, deputy financial secretary; Sister Agnes McCann, deputy treasurer; Sister A. A. Killam, Rebekah Assembly chaplain; Sister Marion Taylor, deputy inside guard; Sister Doris Stocken, deputy outside guard; Sister Vera Bickie, musician, all of whom were presented with corsages of sweet peas, roses and maidenhair fern, the gift of the district deputy president.

PRESENTATION MADE

On behalf of the degree team, the noble grand presented Sister Ada Kirk with a small gift as a token of affection and compliment her on the manner in which she carried out her duties.

Sister Edith Todd and Sister Jenny Pollard were presented with lovely bouquets. At the conclusion of lodge business, dainty refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

Welfare Club to Meet in Summer

SIDNEY, July 13.—The monthly business meeting of the North Saanich Welfare Club was held on Tuesday, twenty ladies attending.

It was decided to continue the meetings during the Summer months. These meetings are held every Tuesday, from 2 to 5 o'clock, in Stacey's Hall.

Plans were made for continuing the work. Mothers of children needing clothing on the return to school in September were asked to make a list of garments needed, with measurements. The society will endeavor to supply the necessary garments. Mothers in need of garments are urged to come to the meetings and help with the work.

Work is under way in shirt making. These garments will be sold at a nominal charge to those who the executive decides are in need of them.

Donations of money or material are solicited.

Premier Will Officiate at Garden Fete

Premier Tolmie will open the garden fete at "Mount Joy," at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The open air party at the beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Pemberton, on Foul Bay Road is under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, and is being held for the benefit of the Kitsilano Boys' Band to assist the fund with which to take these boys to Chicago, there to take part in the international contest for the world's junior band championship.

The proceedings will commence at 3 o'clock, and will continue until dark. In addition to a full programme by the band, all kinds of entertainment and amusements will be provided. There will be magical seances by Frank Merryfield, the Cornish wizard; dancing by the Italian School of Music and Dancing, and the Florence Clough Dancing Academy, with solo dances by Frances Merryfield, Grace Attfield and others. A Punch and Judy show, cocoanut alies, games and contests, palmistry and teacup reading, and other attractions. Afternoon tea and a cafeteria supper will be served.

St. Saviour's Fete Is Great Success

The women's and men's auxiliaries to St. Saviour's Church held a most successful garden party on Wednesday afternoon, in the gardens of the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. McTavish, Lampson Street. Mrs. F. L. Stephenson, who was introduced by Rev. H. S. Payne, opened the affair. The guests were received by Mrs. Harper, president of the W.A.; Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McTavish and Mr. H. Gard, president of the men's auxiliary.

The garden was decorated with flags and Japanese lanterns, and made a charming setting for the party. Music from a radio kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Eastick, was much enjoyed. Mrs. Cody-Johnson and Mrs. Wade were at the needlework stall; Mrs. E. W. Henry and Mrs. A. H. Lofts were at the home cooking stall; Mrs. Gard and Mrs. Temple were conveners of the afternoon tea; Mrs. Froggett and Mrs. Wood had charge of the parcel post; Mr. Eastick and Mrs. Hooper, the house-house; Mrs. Hughes and the Girls' W.A. the candy; generous goose, Miss Clegg and Mr. B. B. Temple; ice cream, Mr. H. Gard; vegetables and general store, Mr. Tate and Mr. A. Cody-Johnson. Mr. Tate and Mr. Harper were responsible for the transportation of the tables and chairs.

SAVE DRUG STORE WHERE WASHINGTON DID HIS SHOPPING

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 13 (CP). —Virginians in this little town, just eight miles across the Potomac River from Washington, have organized a society to save the 140-year-old drug store at which George Washington traded. They pledged $425 to buy the stocks of the Leadbeater drug store when they go on auction sale next Wednesday.

Stork Must Live at Zoo

—Central Press Photograph.

JUDGING from the large number of new-born cubs that made their first earthly howls of late the California Zoological Gardens at Los Angeles is principally the habitat of a very busy stork. Photo shows two baby panther leopards, the mother being an East Indian panther and the father a black Oriental leopard from Sumatra. They are shown frolicking in a basket with a pair of nine weeks' old Nubian lion cubs.

Tag Day for Red Cross to Aid Workshop

The Victoria Red Cross Society has recently had a campaign for funds so as to enable them to continue their local activities, chief of which is the Red Cross Workshop for disabled ex-service men. A member of the executive points out that this campaign has been entirely voluntary, there having been no personal canvassing. The results have not been as expected and it is felt there are many who would wish to give to this very worthy cause. No doubt many cheques will still be forthcoming. But to enable the general public to give, a tag day has been arranged for tomorrow, and it is trusted this will meet with a ready response.

Through kindness of the Melrose Company, its old store at 618 Fort Street has been secured as headquarters, to be open this afternoon from 3 to 5, and all day from 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mrs. H. Fleming, president of the society, is general convener, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Grimison, Mrs. Dallain and Mrs. S. H. Okell. Conveners of corners are as follows: Public Market, Mrs. A. Jeffrey (workshop); Douglas and Yates, Britannia Branch Women's Auxiliary; Douglas and View, Pro Patria Branch Women's Auxiliary; Douglas and Fort, Mrs. S. H. Okell; Douglas and Pandora, Army and Navy Women's Auxiliary; Government and Fort, Miss Kathleen Roberts; Government and Courtney, Postoffice, Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E.; Fort and Broad, Mrs. Dallain; Douglas and Fisgard, Mrs. J. L. Grimison; Parliament Buildings, Mrs. Fleming.

Many more taggers can be used. Volunteers should phone Mrs. Fleming at G arden 3816, or to the workshop, Empire 3513.

Reports Read by Mothers' Union

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, July 13. — The Shawnigan branch of the Mothers' Union met on Tuesday for its regular quarterly meeting at Rosedale Inn. In the absence of the enrolling member, Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. Cockshot presided. The speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. U. N. Thomas, diocesan president, who delighted her audience with a short talk on "Saints I Have Known." Mrs. Thomas asked the co-operation of the branch in arrangements for a continuous globe-circling chain of prayer to be kept up for three days in October, during the Anglican conference in London. The Shawnigan branch undertook to sustain prayers for renewal of spirit from 11 to 11:15 a.m. Tuesday morning, October 3. Mrs. McDonald, the link secretary, read a letter from Shawnigan's linked branch in Bognor Regis, Sussex, England. A letter was also read from the enrolling member, Mrs. Beasley, who is visiting in England. At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Mediand, Mrs. Skrimshire and Mrs. Cornwall.

VIGGO KIHL TO CONDUCT CLASS

Head of Toronto Conservatory of Music Piano Department Here to Begin Course

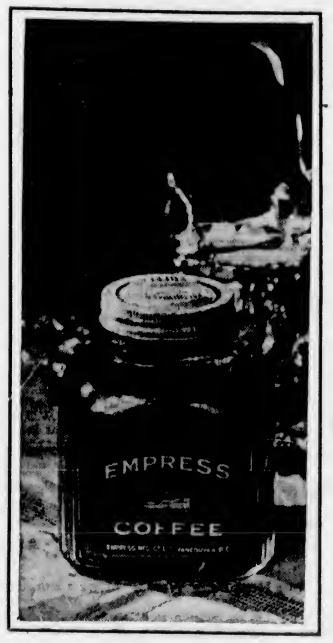

Viggo Kihl, head of the pianoforte department of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, arrived in the city yesterday, and this morning at 10 o'clock, at the Shrine Auditorium, will give the first lecture of his master class series.

This master class is being conducted here at the request of a group of the music teachers of Victoria, and the popularity of the undertaking is shown in the overregistration, with a class of more than thirty teachers and advanced music students. The course will last for two weeks, the lectures proper to begin on Monday, and to be held on Wednesday and Friday of next week also, and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of the week following, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The lectures this morning and tomorrow morning at the Shrine Auditorium are in the nature of a preface to the course.

Mr. Kihl, who has been conducting examinations for the Toronto Conservatory as far east from here as Winnipeg, returned to the Coast for the special purpose of holding this master class, but will also probably give a recital while here.

CORNISH SOCIETY PICNIC

The Victoria and District Cornish Society will hold its annual basket picnic on Saturday at Willows Beach. A cordial invitation is extended to all Cornish people. Supper will be eaten upstairs in the Willows Pavilion. Tea and milk will be provided. Sports will be held during the afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. Those requiring further information are asked to telephone G 4249.

GIVES ACCOUNT OF CONVENTION

J. H. Beatty Addresses Rotarians on Impressions of Gathering

Speaking of the recent convention of Rotary International, held in Boston, J. H. Beatty, M.P.P., told the members of the local club at its luncheon meeting, yesterday, that during the year the organization had lost thirty-six clubs and made a gain of eighty. He said the figures showed that the losses numerically had not been very great. In Canada and the United States there had been, west of the Mississippi River, a loss of 2 3-4 per cent while east of the Mississippi the loss had been 4 per cent. Under the conditions that prevailed he felt that this was not a bad showing.

Mr. Beatty said there was general pleasure at the convention when John Nelson was elected president of the international body by acclamation. Canada felt especially proud of the selection in this way of one of their number, it being the third time in the history of Rotary that this honor had gone to a Canadian.

MARRED BY HEAT

While the gathering was a most inspiring one, Mr. Beatty said that the intense heat prevailing in the East marred materially the convention for himself. He also was more inspired personally by the intercourse in the smaller gatherings than in the big conventions.

In a hurried review of his trip to and from the convention and of the main events connected with the gathering, Mr. Beatty gave a lot of information for the benefit of the local membership.

The British Empire dinner during the gathering was an outstanding one as usual. The various parts of the Empire met on an equality of footing and the programme was exceedingly well balanced.

He had been elected chairman of the election committee and in that capacity had charge of the selection of the American directors, which was satisfactorily carried out. There were fifty-seven countries represented on the credential committee.

On his way back he visited the Chicago Fair. While it was a great affair, it was not really a world's fair. It was essentially an American one. For his own part he preferred Gothic and other well-known styles of architecture to the packing-box style which was so much in evidence at the Chicago event.

Catches Rattler Instead of Fish

NIAGARA Falls, Ont., July 13 (CP).—R. G. Hall, of this city, went fishing in the Niagara Gorge, and came home with a three-footer, but it happened to be a rattlesnake instead of a fish.

Hall encountered the reptile as soon as he had started to fish. He struck at it several times with his rod and finally succeeded in landing a fatal blow on the head.

FEAR MILK FAMINE

LONDON, Ont., July 13 (CP).—Fear of a "milk famine" in London district was expressed today because of the excessive heat and drought. Pastures throughout Middlesex were said to be almost finished.

What Today Means

"CANCER

If July 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 3:45 p.m. to 5 p.m., from 7 p.m. to 7:40 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 10:50 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 10:20 p.m. to 11:35 p.m.

This July 14 would seem to be propitious for the signing of any agreements or documents. On the surface there will appear to be much activity in the business world, but much of it will be pointless and of no avail. Women will not get along together on this date and social gatherings of that sex will tend to bristle with jealousies and bitter feelings.

The child born on this July 14 will be inclined to get into scrapes unless kept occupied both mentally and physically. You will find him fond of games that stimulate the imagination. He will not be one to sit back and wait to be amused, but will go out and find or make his own excitement. Very obedient.

If July 14 is the date of your birth, it is well nigh impossible to anticipate the course your life will take. Fate has been good to you in many ways. You are blessed with a better-than-average mind, you have good health, and you have many fine qualities. What you are and what you will become depend very largely on your own doing. It lies entirely within yourself whether you will rise to great heights or whether you will stay on the level with the average man. You can, with reasonable success, turn your hand to most anything; your greatest difficulty in life will be to find something with sufficient appeal and interest to keep you working for a lifetime. You are a selfless person and you think little of your own advancement. If you can align yourself with some great cause of work, and feel that you are really in some way contributing to the betterment of mankind, you will attain real happiness.

Born on July 14, you are a person of high ideals and you have a profound religious feeling. You are probably a regular churchgoer, and unlike many, you try to live up to the demands of your church. You are a loyal person and you enjoy having congenial friends about you. When left alone you become restless and unable to concentrate. You will get less satisfaction from your children than do most parents.

Niagara in Port From South Seas; Docked Yesterday

Ruth Alexander, in From California, Five Hours Late—Nebraska Here From United Kingdom — Tacoma Brought Excursion

Sixteen hours ahead of schedule, the Canadian-Australasian motorship Niagara, Captain T. V. Hill, tied up at Rithet Piers shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, inbound from Australia via New Zealand, Fiji and Hawaii. The liner had ninety-four travelers in all classes aboard, there being twenty-six in the first class, forty-eight in the cabin class and twenty in the third class. A number of passengers left the ship here for various destinations in the United States. Cargo for Canada totaled 2,000 tons, of which ninety-eight tons were discharged locally. Officers of the ship reported a fine passage all the way from Sydney. The ship continued to Vancouver at midnight.

Among the more prominent travelers aboard the Niagara were Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Fairfax and Miss C. E. Fairfax, the former being managing-director of The Sydney Morning Herald, en route to England; Joseph Bradshaw, J. W. Sutton and William Bradshaw, directors of the Co-operative Wholesale Society of Great Britain, proceeding to England after a visit to Australia and New Zealand; E. W. Gibson, of England, returning home after an extended business visit to Australia and New Zealand; and Miss M. Parsons, of England, proceeding home after a holiday sojourn in Australia.

Strong northwest winds off the Coast kept the Pacific Steamship Lines Ss. Ruth Alexander some five hours behind schedule, and she did not arrive alongside Rithet Piers until 3 o'clock this morning. The Coast liner brought eighty passengers for Island and Mainland points and had sixty tons of general cargo for discharge. The ship was to remain at the dock until 7 o'clock this morning for the convenience of the passengers, proceeding to Seattle after they disembarked.

From Seattle, the Black Ball Ferries Ss. Tacoma arrived here yesterday shortly after 1 o'clock, with some 180 excursionists aboard. The Tacoma remained here until 5 o'clock, when she left on the return trip.

From the United Kingdom via Panama and California ports, the Royal Mail Lines motorship Nebraska, Captain A. Murley, docked at Ogden Point Piers shortly after 6 o'clock last night. The ship discharged about 200 tons of general cargo, and lifted a shipment of frozen salmon for the outbound voyage.

Two men were arguing. "I think," cried one of them, "that there is only one thing that saves you from being a bare-faced liar."

"What's that?" asked the other.

"Your moustache," was the reply.

LIKES HIS NEW PLANE

Comfort and Efficiency Is Combined in Prince of Wales' Aircraft

His first journeys in the Viastra monoplane have amply demonstrated to the Prince its comfort and efficiency. Fitted with two Bristol Pegasus 605-655 horsepower radial engines, it is the largest and most powerful privately-owned flying machine in Great Britain. Normally, the machine has a still air range of 700 miles, cruising at 130 miles per hour. Addition of an extra fuel tank, carried beneath the fuselage, increases the maximum still air range to 1,050 miles.

The beautiful streamlining of the Viastra is typical of modern British practice. Landing wheels and tail wheel are enclosed in streamlined cases, and Townend rings encowl the engines. The efficiency of the wing section and the handiness of the airplane is augmented by the use of Handley-Page automatic lift slots, the famous device which gives the pilot full control at all parts of the speed range, even down to and beyond the point where "stalling," or loss of flying speed, occurs.

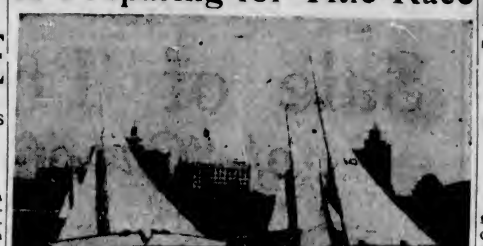

The enclosed pilot's cockpit has seats for two, with complete dual control; one may readily assume that the Prince, who is a good airplane pilot, though he has never taken his "ticket," will spend much time there. A powerful radio transmitting and receiving set, with a reception radius of 300 miles, is located beneath the left-hand pilot's seat.

NOT MUCH NOISE

Great care was taken to preserve the decorative harmony of the cabin, which is arranged to seat eight passengers. Five different kinds of wood, incidentally, all of them grown in the British Empire, are employed in the paneling. Packings of chamois leather and special sound-deadening blankets, and insulated windows of double thickness make the cabin remarkably quiet, much less noisy, in fact, than a first class compartment on a railway train. Smoking is permitted.

Each passenger has his own switches for regulating ventilators and heating radiators. The radiators may be withdrawn from pockets in the paneling and used as foot-warmers. The thickly-padded, light alloy chairs may readily be arranged as beds. In the cabin roof are six parachutes; two more are packed under removable tip-up seats. At the rear of the cabin are a hidden compartment providing storage for writing materials, an electric heater for a kettle, and a cocktail cabinet; aft of the cabin is a large luggage compartment, a refrigerating plant, and storage room for a typewriter and for a gramophone and records.

Is Preparing for Title Race

CHAMPIONS of thirty star fleets from seven countries will come to Long Beach, Calif., in August, to compete for the annual world title for that class. The yachts shown above are the defending fleet for the 1933 international star class yacht racing championship. Sailors of the Long Beach star fleet are confident of their ability to successfully defend the trophy.

REGATTA FOR THE JUNIORS

Girl and Boy Members of Yacht Club Will Race Tomorrow

The junior commodore and officers of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club are going to be hosts at a dance in the clubhouse at Cadboro Bay tonight, and tomorrow will sponsor a real juniors' matinee, providing a number of sailing and novelty races in which the participants will be all girls and boys interested in the sport of yachting, who desire to take part.

These different events are not confined to club members only, invitations being extended to all girl and boy students attending the various institutions of learning in the vicinity of Victoria who have yachting clubs, such as Brentwood and Shawnigan Lake.

The programme is quite an extensive one, and in order that the various events may be completed at a reasonably early hour tomorrow evening, the first race will start promptly at 2 o'clock, when the junior members of the club (boys) will sail once around the course. This event will be followed at 3 o'clock with a contest for girl members, who will sail the same distance as the boys.

NO ADVANTAGE

So that there will be no advantage to skippers who might be familiar with certain boats and their vagaries, all boats entered for either of these races will be drawn for, as will the boats for school teams wishing to enter for a race of the same length, and which will be sailed if there are a sufficient number of representatives from the several schools eligible to enter.

In addition to the races arranged for, there will be a number of novelty events, like those which proved so successful at last year's regatta, and which should provide a whole lot of entertainment for those taking part, as well as for the large number of spectators who will undoubtedly be present to witness the young yachting enthusiasts in action.

QUEEN OF ALAMEDA FOOD SHOW VISITOR TO CITY YESTERDAY

Queen of the Alameda Food Show, Miss Dorothy Dettlig, of Berkeley, California, accompanied by her sister, was a visitor to Victoria yesterday. The ladies arrived here from Seattle on the Black Ball Ferries Ss. Iroquois, and while here were guests at the Empress Hotel.

During the day, the local representative of Black Ball Ferries was their host and saw that all the places of interest were visited, including Butchart's Gardens.

The trip of the young women to the Northwest was made possible by The San Francisco Chronicle.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP)—Ss. Chile Maru, of Yamashita Shipping Co., Ltd., will sail tonight via Woodfibre and Chemainus for Japan, clearing finally for sea on July 18. Ss. Rashin Maru will leave New Westminster tonight for Chemainus. She, too, will sail July 18.

The company reports Ss. Tomahoko Maru, Ss. Norway Maru, Ss. Shunten Maru and Ss. Wales Maru due at British Columbia ports during August to load for Japan.

American Mail Line reports Blue Star Line Ss. Empire Star due at Victoria July 19 to pick up a parcel of frozen fish for the United Kingdom. She will arrive at New Westminster the following day to load 1,650 tons of lead and 10,000 feet of lumber, and will then shift here on July 22 to load a large parcel of frozen fish.

The Vancouver Harbor Board, in its monthly report, states that a total of 92,342 barrels of flour were exported from this port in June. These were distributed as follows: 19,200 to United Kingdom, 11,411 to Italy, 169 to Sweden, 5,375 to Japan, 8,357 to China, 21,059 to Hongkong, 2,194 to New Zealand, twelve to Hawaii, 9,785 to the Philippines, 761 to Central America, 1,605 to the East Indies, 12,303 to the West Indies and ten to the Straits Settlements.

Millions of Young Fish Distributed During Year 1933

Fish Culture Beneficial to Commercial and Sport Angler Alike—Sockeye Seeding Far Surpassed All Other Varieties

Distribution of eggs, fry, fingerlings and older fish from Dominion Government fish hatcheries in 1932 totalled 147,953,000 in round figures, and of this great number 129,000,000 were the eggs, etc. of commercial species.

By distributions of this kind the Dominion Department of Fisheries, which operates the Federal fish hatcheries through its Fish Culture Branch, lends effective aid in maintaining and increasing Canada's stocks of fish, both game fish and some of the commercial species. Nature was kind to Canada, of course, in giving the country an abundance of fish of many different kinds, but there is a good deal of fishing, commercial fishing and angling, and fish cultural effort is one of the means employed by the department to guard against depletion of stocks in those parts of the Dominion where fisheries administration is in Federal hands.

The largest distribution in 1932, as, indeed, in most years, was in the case of sockeye, the most valuable of the Pacific coast salmon. All told, 102,625,000 sockeye eggs, fry, etc., were put out from the departmental hatcheries, or about 11,100,000 more than in the year before. Next came the Atlantic salmon, which is both an important commercial fish and one of Canada's chief sport fish, and in this case the distribution was 24,511,000 or a million more than in 1931.

The spring and coho salmon and the steelhead of British Columbia were the other commercial fish included in the year's distribution—2,707,500 altogether. The spring salmon, by the way, is taken by sport fishermen on some parts of the British Columbia coast, although it is ordinarily ranked as a commercial fish.

VARIETIES OF TROUT

Numerous seedings of game fish were made by the fish culture people during 1932, in addition to the distribution of commercial species. Among these sport fish were speckled, Kamloops, cutthroat, rainbow, brown and Loch Leven, landlocked salmon, etc. Some were placed in British Columbia waters and some in Maritime Province areas, where the fisheries are administered by the Dominion authorities.

No doubt, many of the newcomers from the hatcheries have not survived, although in planting or releasing fry or fingerlings care is always taken to put them only in waters which investigations have shown to be suitable. Some loss is bound to occur,—but Canada's experience has shown that intelligence fish cultural effort brings very useful results and it may reasonably be expected that a good many grown fish in the runs of the next few years will be the product of the 1932 distributions. The commercial fisher and the angler alike will reap benefit.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY OF GREAT BRITAIN IS STRONG ORGANIZATION

J. W. Sutton, Joseph and William Bradshaw comprised a party of prominent British business executives arriving on the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara yesterday afternoon from Australia.

Mr. Sutton told ship reporters that there was no significance to the visit of himself and associates to Australia and New Zealand. The Co-operative Wholesale Society, which they represented and which consists of a membership totalling some 6,000,000 members, appointed a representative to the Southern Dominions about eighteen months ago. It was a new departure, he stated, and the object of the journey to Australia and New Zealand was to introduce this representative personally to the firms with whom they had done business over a long period of time prior to the appointment of this special agent.

Mr. Sutton and his companions left the Niagara here and will travel across the United States, leaving New York for home after visiting Chicago and a number of other Eastern centres.

GREAT FAVORITE WITH TRAVELERS

We have often attempted to analyze the reasons why the White Star liner Olympic has always had a large and particularly enthusiastic following of travelers who are given to breaking out into lyric praises on the slightest provocation, or upon no provocation at all.

These Olympic fans seem consumed with such a burning flame of affection and loyalty that we have usually been inclined to go metaphysical in our search for the secret of this liner's lure. We've talked about intangible virtues, about qualities ordinarily associated with animate rather than inanimate things—personality, aristocracy, graciousness, gentility.

All of these elusive and charming qualities are there, to be sure, but it was no less an authority than Lord Duveen who recently reminded us forcibly that it is scarcely necessary to delve into the occult to find reasons for delight in this ship.

This noted English art connoisseur has crossed many times on the Olympic and has often expressed to fellow travelers or to staff officers his admiration of the quiet dignity and fine taste of her public rooms. On a recent voyage, shortly after the ship had been redecorated, he was heard to call the attention of a fellow traveler to the extraordinary beauty of the rich solid oak wall paneling, and particularly to the fine design and execution of the exquisite carving that is a salient feature of the Olympic's foyers and staircases. This carved woodwork, he said, would go down in the history of interior decoration as ranking with the finest work of the great Grinling Gibbons, the foremost exponent of the art in the Georgian era.

EMPIRE SCREENS ENGLISH COMEDY

Gene Gerrard Has Leading Role in "Lucky Girl," Supported by Molly Lamont

Empire Pictures will present the first of its new series of pictures at the Empire Theatre today. It was announced recently that 80 per cent of the new films would be adaptations of successful books or plays by well-known playwrights and novelists. "Lucky Girl," which is the title of the picture coming to the Empire, is an adaptation of "Mr. Abdulla," the stage success by Reginald Berkeley. Gene Gerrard is the star and Molly Lamont plays opposite him. Both Gerrard and Miss Lamont are well-known on the musical comedy stage and they are provided with both excellent comedy and song material in "Lucky Girl." Gene Gerrard will be remembered for his excellent comedy work in "My Wife's Family" recently shown at the Empire.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Capitol—"Sweepings," starring Lionel Barrymore.

Columbia—Tom Keene in "Sunset Pass."

Dominion—"Reunion in Vienna," starring John Barrymore.

Empire—Gene Gerrard in "Lucky Girl."

Playhouse—"Broadway Bad," with Joan Blondell.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Joan Blondell makes her debut in a new type of role in Fox Film's romance, "Broadway Bad," now at the Playhouse Theatre. No longer the happy-go-lucky beauty who specializes in wise cracks, she plays the dramatic role of a girl who cashes in on a lurid reputation at the risk of happiness. Ricardo Cortez, Ginger Rogers, Adrienne Ames, Victory Jory and Allen Vincent are featured with her.

DOMINION THEATRE John Barrymore takes the leading role in the current attraction at Dominion Theatre, "Reunion in Vienna," playing opposite Diana Wynyard. This sweeping drama revives the pomp and circumstance of the erstwhile court at Vienna. The screen play is adapted from the story by Robert E. Sherwood, with a strong supporting cast. This includes Frank Morgan, Henry Travers, May Robson, Eduardo Ciannelli and Una Merkel.

CAPITOL THEATRE The technique of the bargain sale, showing how prices are set to obtain big profits is revealed in "Sweepings," RKO-Radio picture, now showing at the Capitol Theatre, with Lionel Barrymore in the star role. Barrymore portrays the appealing role of a father, who amassed millions for his children by founding a great merchandizing property, only to see his offspring dissipate his wealth in riotous living. In support are fifteen featured players, including William Gargan, Eric Linden, Gloria Stuart, Lucien Littlefield, Helen Mack and Alan Dinehart. John Cromwell directed. Richard Dix is also shown in a new role, "The Great Jasper." He is supported by Wera Engels and Edna May Oliver.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Harry Carey has appeared in more films dealing with the West than any other living actor. Yet "Sunset Pass," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre, is the first Zane Grey film in which Carey has appeared. It's just one of those freaks, the author and actor agree. Carey is a member of a cast which includes Randolph Scott, Tom Keene, Kathleen Burke, Noah Beery and Kent Taylor.

Mosley Reviews British Fascisti

Making His First Appearance Since the Recent Death of His Wife, Sir Oswald Mosley, Leader of the British Fascisti, Reviews His Black-Shirted Followers Outside Their Headquarters in London, England.

Dominion Books Comedy Romance

Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary honored the Gaumont-British production of "The Good Companions" by attending the brilliant London premiere, the occasion being the first time that King George and Queen Mary had ever publicly attended the showing of a talking picture. The management of the Dominion Theatre takes pride in announcing the local showing of this picture commencing tomorrow.

The human appeal of J. B. Priestly's story of "The Good Companions" is tremendous. The many characters that are so loved by all who have met them on the printed page are perfectly portrayed in the picture by what has been termed the "perfect" screen cast. The players include ten of the most notable of England's stage and screen stars. The entire cast used in "The Good Companions" is in excess of a thousand.

OAK BAY HEALTH HAS BEEN GOOD

Medical Officer Compliments Municipality Upon the Absence of Contagious Disease

Dr. W. P. Walker, municipal health officer of Oak Bay, in submitting the report as to the general health of the municipality for the year ending June 30, compliments Oak Bay upon the entire absence of infectious diseases requiring admission to the isolation hospital.

Among the children there had been two slight outbreaks of measles and chickenpox. In connection with the latter, Dr. Walker pointed out that the slight outbreak in connection with it is not to be lamented altogether, in view of the fact that this is a disease that children are almost sure to have, and the taking of it early in their life is attended with a milder attack than may be expected later.

It would be difficult, he says, to find a school community freer from disease than Oak Bay.

The report also alludes to the fact that fewer cows are allowed to graze in the municipality and to the general bettering of conditions.

TO GO TO THE DEVIL

On the spot where Child's Bank now stands, near Temple Bar, London, there was long a noted tavern called "The Devil." This was the meeting place of the Apollo Club, so famous in English letters, and the eating place of the lawyers of the neighbourhood. So well known was the place in the London of those days that when the lawyers, going to dinner, hung on their door a notice saying "Gone to the Devil," anyone knew where to find them. And many well read people have attributed to this, our modern saying "gone to the devil," meaning "gone to ruin."

Also the origin of the phrase has been credited to Samuel Johnson, who is quoted in the fourth volume of Boswell's famous "Life of Johnson" as follows:

"Let him go abroad to a distant country; let him go to some place where he is not known. Don't let him go to the devil, where he is known."

However, Samuel Johnson lived from 1709 to 1784, and we find a recorded use of the expression "to go to the devil" under date of 1465 in number 512 of the famous Paston Letters which were published in London beginning in 1787.

COURT REACHES END OF APPEALS

Conclusion of Long List Had Kept Judges Far Into Vacation Period

The Court of Appeal concluded its sitting yesterday at noon with the completion of the argument in the case of Gilbert E. Goddard vs. Bainbridge Lumber Company, in which Harold A. Beckwith and H. W. Davey appeared as counsel for the appellant company which sought to revive an action which had been the subject of a court order thirteen years before and in which it was sought to establish the question of costs. R. A. Wootton appeared for the respondent in the appeal, represented by Luella Goddard, the widow of the original plaintiff in the action.

The appeal was dismissed at yesterday's concluding session of the Appeal Court.

The court has been sitting for thirteen days of the court vacation as a result of the large number of appeals that came before it. The next sitting will be in Vancouver in October.

In the intervening time the members of the court will be preparing their judgments in the reserved decisions of the sitting just concluded so as to be ready to render judgments as far as possible at the opening of the October session.

Group Will Meet At Yellow Point

There will be a meeting of the Oxford Group on Saturday, July 15, beginning at 7 o'clock, at the Summer resort of M. G. Hill, Yellow Point, near Ladysmith. The meeting will take place outdoors in front of the cottage called "The Parsonage," which is occupied at present by Rev. Albert Schormane, of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Victoria. A team from Victoria is expected to come out for this meeting. The public of Nanaimo, Ladysmith and vicinity is cordially invited to this service.

Bees Have Hot Time

AMITY, Ore., July 13 (CP).—John Bockes, of Amity, drove his automobile into a swarm of bees—and the bees got stung. The insects pelted against the radiator, packing in so solidly that circulation was shut off and the water boiled. The bees died and Bockes didn't get a sting.

AUSTRALIA IMPROVING

Conditions in Southern Dominion Better Now—1931 Worst Year

On his way to England on a combined business and pleasure trip, Warwick Fairfax, managing director of The Sydney Morning Herald, Australia's oldest newspaper, was a passenger aboard the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara, arriving here last night from Sydney.

Interviewed on board just after the ship docked, Mr. Fairfax stated that conditions were improving steadily in Australia; in fact were very good at present. The wheat crop had been marketed and wool had sold well. Australia's worst year was 1931. Just how long this state of affairs would continue would depend, he believed, on what came out of the World Economic Conference. Australia was deeply interested in the conference.

As to what bearing the situation, which has developed in London during the past week, would have on Australia, Mr. Fairfax stated that he was hardly in a position to talk intelligently, as the wireless reports received on the ship were not very exhaustive. He would rather not commit himself, he said, until he had a better grasp of it.

The Sydney Morning Herald, with which he is connected, was started in 1839, he stated, and has been published continuously since that time.

Mr. Fairfax is accompanied by Mrs. Fairfax and a sister, Miss C. E. Fairfax. They will continue across Canada by Canadian Pacific to Montreal, where they will board the Ss. Duchess of Atholl on July 21.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES QUIT IN PROTEST

Men Leave Coquitlam Board to Women Majority as Result of Dispute

MAILLARDVILLE, July 13 (CP).—W. Brown and J. W. Harris, chairman and secretary-trustee respectively of the Coquitlam School Board, have resigned their positions on the board, leaving the three women members, Mrs. B. Drewery, Mrs. K. Wilson and Mrs. V. Fare to carry on the board's business.

Mr. Brown said that he and Mr. Harris resigned as a protest against the women on the board objecting to consider the application of a local girl for the position of teacher. He added that he was of the opinion that residents should have an equal chance with outsiders and preference, all qualifications being equal.

Mr. Harris said that he also resigned over the matter of the cutting-down of two snags on the grounds of the Mountain View School. The municipal chairman of the board of works committee had offered to cut them down and save the board the expense, but the women wanted to call for tenders.

Vessels Tied Up Pending Inquiry Into Collision

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP).—The liner City of Baltimore was towed carefully back to harbor here today and tied up at her pier while investigations were begun to determine the reason for her crash late yesterday with the tanker Beacon.

Written reports from the masters of both vessels were awaited by Captain Paul H. Tyler and Davis C. Young, the local board of Federal steamboat inspectors, before they announced plans for their inquiry.

Officials of the Baltimore Mail Line, owners of the City of Baltimore, and the Standard Shipping Company, owners of the tanker, began an inquiry to see why the two vessels collided in the broad channel of the Chesapeake Bay in daylight.

The Mail liner, which was run aground in twenty-four feet of water off Gibson Island soon after the accident occurred last night, was pulled off by three tugs and a coast guard cutter early today and towed up the bay.

"Two-year-old clothes still good and not faded at all,"
says this capable mother

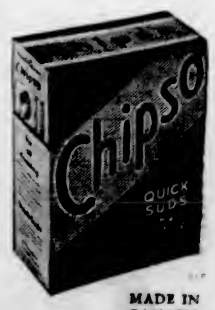

A large family. Hard times. More and more work for mother. "I had to start doing all my own washing," Mrs. L. E. Frank told us. "Then I took in roomers—seven of them—and you can imagine what the washing became! I do a tubful every day. But not 'rub-a-dub-dub'. I don't have to do hard rubbing, because I use CHIPSO.

"Chipso suds are thick and lasting. You put the clothes to soak for a few minutes, raise the tub cover and the suds are right there, rich and lively. They take the dirt out in no time. Look at these towels!" Mrs. Frank opened up a cupboard stacked full of snowy towels. "We live near the beach. Think what the towels are in summer—grimy, smeared with cold cream and stained with lipstick—but see how soft and white they are, without being rubbed thin. I sometimes put badly soiled clothes through two suds, but I never rub. Rubbing wears clothes out. Our clothes wear two to four years.

"Another reason why I like Chipso better than any other soap is that while it takes dirt out quickly, it doesn't make my hands crack open and it doesn't fade colored clothes or make woolens stiff and harsh."

How can Chipso remove dirt so magically, yet be so SAFE? Because Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients. It is SOAPIER. It cleanses with RICHER SUDS that are harmless to colors and fabrics and a comfort to sensitive hands.

Mrs. Frank recommends Chipso for floors and walls and dishes, too. "You can make marvelous suds with so little Chipso—a teaspoonful to a dishpan—that I find it most economical," she says. Get your big box of Chipso from your grocer tomorrow! At present prices, it is now offering you better value than ever before.

Chipso makes clothes wear longer

England and Australia Split Opening Singles in European Zone Final

Jack Crawford Wins From Austin; Perry Turns Back McGrath

Crawford Scores 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 Victory Over No. 2 Ranking Englishman—Perry Defeats Young Australian in Straight Sets

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 13 (AP).—The first skirmish in the English-Australian tennis battle for the right to go to Paris to meet the United States in the inter-zone Davis Cup final, ended all square today when the two countries divided the opening singles matches.

Jack Crawford, present king of the tennis world by reason of recent defeats of Ellsworth Vines and Henri Cochet, sent the Anzacs away to a lead with a 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Henry W. ("Bunny") Austin. But Fred Perry evened accounts for the Mother Country by turning back young Vivian McGrath in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

With much depending on the outcome of the doubles tomorrow, Australia today named Crawford and Adrian Quist, another youngster, to oppose the veteran English internationalists, Perry and Patrick Hughes. The selection of Quist came somewhat as a surprise, as McGrath was expected to pair with the Wimbledon champion as he did in the English championships. The shift, however, will leave McGrath fresh for his singles match against Austin on Saturday.

AUSTIN WINS ONE SET

The surprise of today's play was that Austin was able to take one set from the lanky Australian. Seemingly able to do no wrong, Austin played as if inspired, serving well and driving deep to his opponent's backhand corner to reel off a lead of four games in the first set and then go on to take the lead, much to the surprise of the small crowd of 2,000. The crowd was held down by a drizzling rain, which postponed the opening of the tie for more than an hour.

That, however, was Austin's best stand as there was no doubt as to Crawford's superiority after the first set. Austin fought doggedly at all times against a player who was his master as a tactician.

With the start of the second set, Crawford increased the pace of his ground shots and gradually, with consummate skill, manoeuvred Austin to corners and pinned him there for three or four strokes; then, with the Englishman forced farther and farther away from the net, Crawford would whip over a raking shot that caught Austin badly out of position.

ENGLISHMAN TIRES

Through the last two sets Crawford kept his service intact, while Austin, tired from the footwork he was forced to do, became erratic and was forced into errors.

The match between Perry and McGrath, the player with the "two-fisted" backhand grip, was as complete as any Englishman could desire. Perry seemed to have completely recovered the confidence he lost in the English championships last week, and volleyed with his old crisp directness.

McGrath never could get going against Perry's attack, that eased off only once, halfway in the second set when the veteran English player was leading 4-1. McGrath won three straight games to square the set, but that was as close as he came to victory.

BIG SHOOTS OPEN TODAY

Conan Doyle and Donegall Matches Scheduled at Bisley Range

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 13 (CP).—After two weeks of arduous practice Canada's team of marksmen gets into competition in the National Rifle Association's big Empire meet tomorrow, hoping for better weather conditions than have prevailed since the meeting opened last Monday.

Firing in the Conan Doyle and Donegall matches tomorrow starts intensive competition among thousands of marksmen from all over the British Isles and from far-scattered parts of the Empire, competition that will get keener each day until the meeting winds up a week from Saturday with the final stage of the classic King's Prize.

DRENCHING RAIN

Drenching rain again today spoiled one of Bisley's most colorful spectacles, the great turnout of society as teams of boy sharpshooters from the historic public schools battled for the Ashburton Challenge Cup. The eight from Glenalmond School, Scotland, carried off the trophy, which dates from 1861, by scoring an aggregate of 487 points out of a possible 560, despite the miserable shooting conditions.

Dragon Poloists Defeat Crystal Garden Team

Displaying fine team work, the water polo team from the H.M.S. Dragon, visiting British battleship, defeated a squad representing the Crystal Garden at the Garden, Wednesday evening, by a 4 to 2 score. the fleet swimmers were on their toes all the time, and, after taking the lead in the first minute of the game, showed fine work on the defence. Buck scored three of his team's markers, while Ridley sank the fourth. Ken Darbyshire and Tommy Wellburn accounted for the Victoria goals.

Keating, of the Dragon refereed, and the teams were:

H.M.S. Dragon — R.P.O. Cloake, Ldg.-Sig. Brice, A.B. Cox, A.B. Ridley, A.B. Harrison, A.B. Bishop and A.B. Buck.

Crystal Garden Swimimng Team —Shade, Lawrence, Peden, T. Wellburn Robertson, Derbyshire and G. Wellburn.

Port Angeles to Play Tillicums Double-Header

PORT Angeles baseball nine will make its initial appearance of the season here tomorrow afternoon and evening when it clashes with a strengthened Tillicum squad in a double-header exhibition at 2:30 o'clock and 6:15. The visiting team is said to be stronger than in previous years and will be out to take the measure of the locals. The games will be held at the Royal Athletic Park and Allie McGregor will umpire both.

Frank Elliot to Ride in Bicycle Marathon Event

MONTREAL, July 13 (CP). —Three more pedalers have entered the cross-country bicycle marathon scheduled to start from Montreal on July 30, bringing the entry list to thirty-six. The three are Bert Smith, of London, England; Frank Elliot, of Victoria, and Gus Rys, of Detroit.

SOCCER SQUAD IS ANNOUNCED

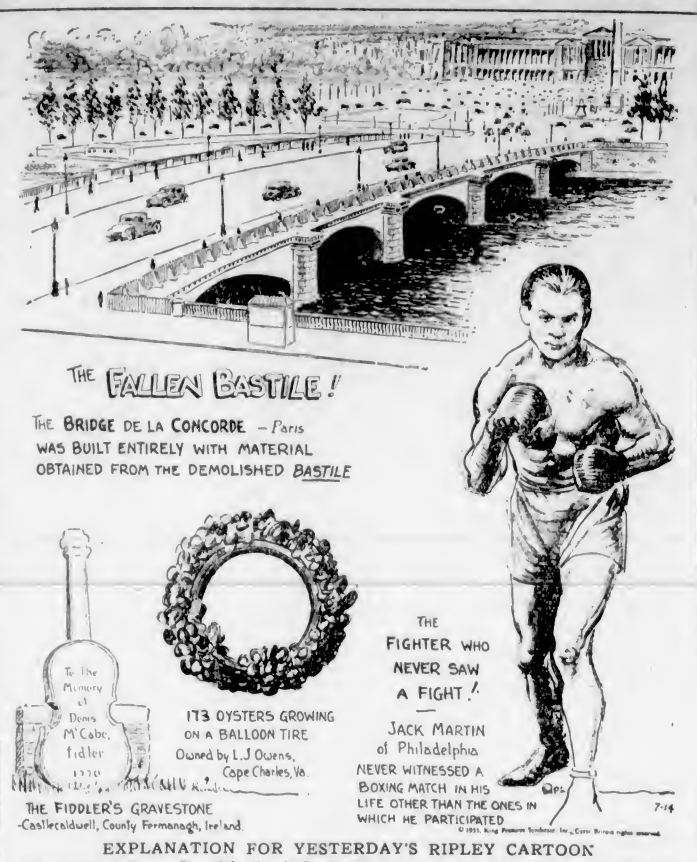

Eleven From Lower Island Body to Oppose H.M.S. Dragon Tomorrow Is Chosen

Secretary A. J. Campbell, of the Lower Island Football Association, announced the all-star eleven from the league, which will oppose the H.M.S. Dragon football squad in an exhibition match tomorrow afternoon at the Heywood Avenue grounds. The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock and a big crowd is expected. Players of the local side are asked to be at the grounds not later than 2 o'clock.

Victoria's squad follows: Bourne, T., Graves, W. Blackstock, H. Sage, A. Speller, J. Viggers, A. Murray, W. Graves, J. Blackstock, J. Campbell and S. Collins. Reserves are Gibson and Nobel. The visiting eleven is not yet known, but it is expected to be practically the same as opposed the Coast League last evening at the Royal Athletic Park.

American League teams of the East — New York, Philadelphia, Washington and even Boston—have found good business at the turnstiles during their current swing through the Western division of the circuit.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Father of Income Tax—Sebastien le Prestre, Marquis de Vauban (1633-1707), greatly military engineer and marshal of France, is the inventor of the Income Tax. He suggested the "Dime," a tax calculated on the basis of individual revenue to King Louis XIV of France in 1707. The French Government regarded Vauban's proposition with disfavor, and ordered his book impounded. The French honored his memory on the tercentenary of his birth in May this year, and recalled that in addition to the Income Tax, Vauban is credited with the construction of 333 fortresses, some of which were active in the Great War.

A Strange Wreck—The strangest wreck in the history of the Chicago & Alton Railroad occurred near Lexington, Illinois, some forty years ago when old 205 ploughed into the rear end of a standing freight train and climbed on top of two loaded coal cars, berthing itself securely on the coal.

No fire resulted, no injuries of any kind were suffered, and no wrecker was needed, because the cars and engine were towed into the Bloomington shops just as they were. The photo, from which I made my drawing, was taken in Bloomington—sixteen miles from the scene of the accident.

Gray Line Much Too Good for Times Nine

Taximen Have Grand Evening's Workout in Shellacking Afternoon Newspapermen 21-7 —Manager "Rebel" Mowat Hits Homer

The line of ballyhoo that The Times baseball team has been spreading that they could spot the Gray Line a dozen or so runs and then win in a walk proved to be just another "line" last night, when the taximen plastered a 21-7 defeat on the afternoon paper's squad. It was just another good workout for the busmen, who have yet to be defeated.

Times went out worse than 70-to-1 to lose, and justified the prediction of The Colonist that the Gray Liners would be far too good for the newsies. For a couple of innings it was close, but then the taximen stepped on the gas and left the newspapermen in a cloud of dust. A collection in aid of the Red Cross Workshop was taken and amounted to $62. This will be handed to the veterans after some minor expenses are deducted.

Again the "horsing" of Manager Rebel Mowat and Bobby Ross stole the show. Nobody expected to see much of a baseball game with The Times as opponents for the Gray Line outfit, but once or twice the newspapermen showed that they had seen a game or two before. Mowat and Ross arrived on a tandem bicycle, dressed up in the fashion of the gay nineties. They were given a big hand by the large crowd. The children again had a fine time, and following the game 1,000 lollypops were distributed.

HIGH-CLASS TEAM?

Times were supposed to have a bunch of high-class baseballers and one of their members had the nerve to offer even money. He is poorer today. A couple of scouts from the Juvenile League looked over the newspapermen, but no trades were reported at headquarters last night.

"Tuddy" Sargison, reputed to be a high-class performer on the mound, worked for The Times, but he developed a sore arm and the busmen drove him to all corners of the lot. Manager Tommy Nute was about to send Pete Sallaway to the rescue, but Pete developed tonsilitis and stayed at shortstop.

Despite the terrific shellacking given The Times, there was one player who showed up well. This was Herb Pickup, who caught. Pickup was loaned by The Colonist to The Times and turned in a great game in the backstop position.

PATRICK STARS AGAIN

Lester Patrick, of hockey fame played first again for the Gray Line and turned in an errorless display, while Harold Husband played second after the fourth inning and again showed some snappy fielding. Tommy Macedo, at short for the busmen, played fine ball, while Manager Mowat, in addition to curving his slants past the newsies in great style, contributed to his own victory by hitting a circuit in the fifth with two men on base.

The teams:

Gray Line — Percy Fitzsimmons, Tommy Macedo, Bill Cox, Lester Patrick, Bun Cox, Mowat, Smith, Veitch, Ross and Harold Husband.

Times—Les Fox, Tommy Forbes, Peter Sallaway, Herb Pickup, T. Nute, E. Corbett, Ted Fox, Sargison and Bayliss.

Score by innings:

Times	0	0	2	2	1	1	0	1—	7
Gray Line	0	2	0	3	3	3	7	2—	21

Umpires—Allie McGregor and Pat O'Rourke.

TOD MORGAN WINS BY K.O. IN SIXTH AGAINST DARDEEN

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP). — Tod Morgan, 140, former world's junior lightweight champion, knocked out Sailor Leo Dardeen, 137, Bremerton, in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the White Centre Arena tonight. He scored two previous knockdowns, the bell saving in the first and second rounds.

bronzed Portland ace eventually won, 5 and 4, but he was forced to patrol the thirty-two holes in 5 under par to turn back the determined Easterner on the title trail for the ninth straight year.

Despite the fact Cameron played par for the first eighteen holes, he went to lunch, 4 down, to the former Pacific Northwest and Western amateur champion. Dolp was uncanny with his approach shots and putts as he toured the 6,590-yard course in 68, 4 under the standard.

In the afternoon, Cameron coolly and deliberately set about the difficult task of cutting the lead held by the tall, slender American. On the nineteenth, he drove off the fairway to the left and was on the second fairway with his second. He pitched over the green and past a trap with his third, but chipped close to the pin and sank a three-footer to win the hole with a par 5. Dolp hooked his drive, but half topped his second and found a bunker with his third. His chip shot was short and he took two putts.

SINKS TWENTY-FOOTER

The twentieth was halved in fours when Dolp hooked his drive and played a full mashie forty yards short of the green, but pitched within twelve inches of the cup to match Cameron's steady effort. Dolp was three feet from the pin on the 133-yard twenty-first and Cameron was forced to sink a twenty-footer to halve the hole with a birdie 2.

Cameron hooked his next drive into the trees and played out left-handed. He was on the green in 3 and down in par 5 to earn a half, when Dolp missed a three-foot putt. The twenty-third was halved in par 4, but Dolp again assumed a four-hole lead when the Easterner encountered all kinds of trouble on the next hole to lose to Dolp's par 4. He sliced his drive and his second shot cleared a bunker, but rolled back in. He chipped out but three-putted.

FINE RECOVERY

Dolp's faculty for getting out of trouble stood him in good stead on the twenty-fifth, when Cameron played perfectly over the 409-yard hole to go down in 4. The Portland ace found a trap with his drive and putted his iron shot to the left of the green. He coolly pitched within two feet of the pin, however, and sank the putt. They both pitched dead to the pin with their third shots on the twenty-sixth to halve the hole. Cameron cut the lead to three with a par 4 on the twenty-seventh as Dolp sliced his drive and caught a trap with his second.

They halved the twenty-eighth in par 3, but Dolp carded a birdie 4 on the 515-yard hole, following with a long drive and a well-played number-four shot to the green. Cameron took a 5. The Easterner returned a birdie on the 270-yard thirtieth hole when he chipped from a bunker dead to the pin, while Dolp was down in par 4. The American won the next two holes, however, to take the match. On the thirty-first, he drove 240 yards and used a No. 7 iron to drop five feet from the pin, sinking his putt. On the next, he laid Cameron a half stymie, which the Toronto man could not hole and won with a par 4.

BLACK BRILLIANT

Ken Black played almost perfect golf for the fifth consecutive day of national competition, including the inter-provincial matches of Saturday, when he led the entire field. For the first nine in the morning round he was even par and he was sensational in the home nine as he returned four 4's and four 3's to stave off the desperate efforts of the Portland veteran, Dr. Cliff Baker. His only trouble came on the eleventh when he put two out of bounds from the tee and conceded the hole. He was 3 up at lunch.

In the deciding round, Black started auspiciously with a birdie 4 when he approached dead to increase his lead to four holes on the twentieth. Dr. Baker made a wonderful fifteen-foot putt, cutting his ball past a half-stymie with Black's ball on the edge of the cup, and halved the hale. The next was halved in 3's, but Black made it 5 up on the second with a wonderful second from the trees to the far side of the green and a dead chip to within a foot of the cup. Baker was on in 2, but three putted.

TWO OUT OF BOUNDS

Dr. Baker put two out of bounds on the twenty-third, and conceded the hole, and Black went seven up on the next, when the Portland entrant again three-putted. Black was in two traps on the twenty-fourth, but pitched out of the second to the green, and sank his putt to halve the hole when Baker missed a short putt. The next hole was halved in par four's. Baker cut the lead to six before the turn, when the Vancouver youngster three-putted the twenty-seventh green.

Baker further cut the lead as the rivals started into the home stretch, when Black took a four, one over par. The Canadian pitched his third shot dead on the long twenty-ninth, however, and won with a birdie. Black found trouble on the next, and lost the hole to Baker's par four. Ken sliced his tee shot, played through the trees short of the green, pitched sho. 2nd two-putted. Baker laid his approach beside the pin to win the 379-yard thirtieth with a birdie three, and the next was halved; but Black sank a five-foot putt for a birdie on the thirty-first, and ended the match.

CAMPBELL IN FORM

The par golf of Albert "Scotty" Campbell, winner of the Pacific Northwest crown at Victoria two weeks ago, proved too much for Cec Coville, and the Vancouver conqueror of Dr. O. F. Willing, of Portland, and Fred Hobitzel, of Toronto, dropped out of the title picture, 3 and 2. Coville was three down at lunch, and four down at the twenty-seven-hole mark, but he made a desperate fight to avoid elimination in the last nine before he finally went under.

The Vancouver veteran found plenty of difficulty at the start of the second nine, going five down with sixes at the nineteenth and twentieth. He sank a five-footer on the short twenty-first, however, and pitched dead on the twenty-second to obtain a half, in bordie four.

Campbell again went five up on the twenty-third, when Coville was weak with a shot from the trap, but the Vancouver man sank a six-foot putt on the next to win with a birdie three. They halved the next three holes. Despite his three birdies, Coville was out in 39, two over par.

COVILLE CUTS LEAD

Campbell went five up at the twenty-eighth when his opponent three-putted, and they halved the long twenty-ninth in birdie four's. The next was also halved, but Campbell drove out of bounds on the thirty-first to finally concede the hole, and Coville took his second straight with a birdie three on the next, sinking a twelve-footer. The lead was too much for him to overcome, however, and the next two holes were halved, the match ending on the thirty-fourth green.

Don Gowan, the former British Columbia amateur champion, who eliminated the defending Canadian titleholder, Gordon Taylor, yesterday, was beaten by the Seattle youngster, Harry Givan, a star at the University of Washington in baseball and basketball. Their match was a neck-and-neck affair from start to finish, all square at the nine-hole mark, and again at lunch. After the recess, the pair continued on even terms to the twenty-fifth hole, where

Half Dozen Alert Youngsters Slip Through Gate When Commissaire Asks for Pasteboard

SHAUGHNESSY HEIGHTS GOLF CLUB, VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—When Frank Dolp, slim and long-shanked Portland golfer, crossed the road between the sixteenth and seventeenth holes in his quarter-final match with Jack Cameron, of Toronto, in the Canadian amateur tournament, today, a commissaire stopped him at the gate and asked him for his ticket.

"Don't tell me I have to pay to watch myself play," retorted the brilliant American star.

And before the commissaire had recovered from his confusion, half a dozen small boys, alive to all such opportunities, had slipped through the gate for an inside view of Canada's premier golf classic.

MAJOR GLEN HOLLAND LEADING IN BIG SHOOT

Canadian Scottish Marksman Displays Form in Governor's

Registers 101 to Top Field in First Stage of Classic Event at Heals Rifle Range—Three Tied for Second Place — Tommy Hall Leading in Brier No. 2 With Possible

By Staff Correspondent

HEALS RIFLE RANGE, July 13.—Shooting brilliantly under trying conditions, Major Glen Holland, Canadian Scottish Regiment, took a point lead in the first stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's Match, the blue ribbon event on the week's programme, at the fifty-fifth annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association here, today, by totaling 101 over the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges. Holland missed a possible on the first range by a lone point, dropped two points at the 500, and then all but scored another possible on the longer range, missing by a single point. He had scores of 34, 33, 34, all out of possible 35's.

As the third day of the annual classic got under way, competition began to get sharper, and riflemen who have carved names for themselves at Ottawa and Bisley stepped into the limelight. Conditions today were extremely tricky, a constant mirage bothering the competitors practically all day. Firing in the forenoon was difficult, but conditions improved somewhat after lunch, although the mirage still hovered over the ranges.

THREE TIED

In a deadlock for second place in the Lieutenant-Governor's Match, three experts, two from the Canadian Scottish camp and one from the 5th Regiment Association, made scores of 100. Sergeant A. E. Ashe and C.Q.M.S. Tommy Hall, Canadian Scottish, and Major Fred Richardson, 5th Regiment, were the trio tied for second honors. Ashe scored 32 over the 200 yards, and 34's over the 500 and 600-yard ranges, while Hall made the same scores. Major Richardson, who has been to Bisley more times than any other Canadian, made 33 at the 200, a possible at the 500, and then dropped to 32 on the long range.

Baffling the tricky conditions in sensational manner, C.Q.M.S. Tommy Hall, youthful shot from the Canadian Scottish, set the pace in the first half of the Macdonald Brier No. 2 match with a fine possible over the 300-yard range. In making his great score of 50, Hall range up ten straight bull's-eyes, and made himself favorite for the coveted honors and first place money when the second half is completed tomorrow. Tied for second place came Sergeant A. E. Ashe and A.-C. J. A. Young, R.C.A.F., Vancouver, with scores of 48.

Major Holland scored 34, 33 and 34 yesterday in the first stage to top the field by a single point. The second stage will be shot off Saturday morning.

TO SHOOT OFF

In the Lieutenant-Governor's, nine marksmen will shoot off for the last seven places, in an effort to stay in the running when the second stage is held Saturday morning. Another feature of this meet was that Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, King's Prize winner at Bisley in 1929, and his son, Private J. W. Blair, both of the Seaforths, of Vancouver, tied for third place with 99's. Miss Gwen Spencer, 5th Regiment Rifle Association, shot in fine style and finished along with a flock of others with a score of 98. Miss Spencer started off with a 31 over the 200, and then received congratulations when she planted seven straight bull's-eyes on the 500-yard range target for a possible. She slipped at the longer range, getting three possibles and four inners for a 32.

Captain Dave Fyvie, the diminutive Scot; Sergeant-Major W. H. Ruffell and Sergeant J. H. Regan shot off in the Westminster Corporation Match. Fyvie and Ruffell scored 24 out of a possible 25, while Regan found the going tough and quit when he had scored 10. In the extra series, Lieut.-Col. H. F. G. Letson, Vancouver; Miss Spencer, and J. A. Young, Vancouver, tied with 49's out of possible 50's. All three shot in brilliant fashion.

Another shoot-off was necessary in the rapid-fire competition, Corporal B. W. Beaumont, Vancouver, and Captain B. W. MacNeill, Vancouver, being the marksmen in the final. McNeil won the shoot-off with a score of 39. In the snap-shooting competition, A.-C. J. A. Young, Vancouver, won by scoring two bull's-eyes and two inners for a score of 18.

ANNUAL MEETING

Tomorrow, shooting will be featured by the holding of the Victoria Corporation Match in the morning, and also the President's Match just before the lunch hour. Right after luncheon the annual meeting will be held, followed by the extra series, Brier No. 2 and President's matches. In the evening the meeting of the 1932-33 council will be held at headquarters.

SOCCER TEAMS PLAY TO SCORELESS DRAW

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP).—Winnipeg Irish and Fort William Legion battled to a scoreless draw here, tonight, in the first game of a two-out-of-three series in the interprovincial playdowns for the soccer championship of Canada.

Pacific Coast XI Plays Draw With Navy Side

BATTLING through ninety minutes under a sweltering heat before a fair turn out, an all-star eleven from the Pacific Coast Football Association held a strong side from H.M.S. Dragon, visiting British battleship, to a scoreless draw last night at the Royal Athletic Park, in an exhibition soccer fixture. Both forward lines passed up numerous opportunities to score, due to faulty passing and footwork. The outstanding feature of the game was the fine work of the two goalies. Both net minders turned aside some hard-driven shots and saved their teams time and again.

STANSTILL PAYS HUGE WIN PRICE

Rank Outsider Captures Third Race to Return $190.90 Straight

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—Leading from wire to wire, Peace Times, from the Kidd stable, annexed the feature event of today's racing card when she just lasted to hold off Plenty Gold by a head. Little Broom, after a slow start, was third.

Stanstill did everything but run to his name in the third. He stepped out in front early and came home in front of the field to give racegoers one of the biggest surprises of the season, paying $190.90 for a $2 mutuel on the nose.

Third and stiffest fine of the meet, $50, was assessed against Jockey Chidgey in the third when he shut off Ilston Whittier in the stretch.

Results follow:

First Race—Purse $300: for maiden three-year-olds and older; five and one-half furlongs:

Tillicums to Face Slingers This Evening

SLINGERS, second-place occupants, and Tillicums, who are safely perched in third position, will clash in tonight's Senior Amateur Baseball League fixture at the Royal Athletic Park at 6:15 o'clock. A win for the winerymen will put them closer to the leading Cameron's nine and farther away from the Tillicums and Sons of Canada. However, if the clubmen turn the tables they will be second-place squad when the game is over. The starting batteries will not be known until the teams march on the field. Allie McGregor will call them.

WHIPPET RACES ARE THRILLING

Plenty of Speed Exhibited at First of Series of Meets at Royal Athletic Park

Thrilling finishes and plenty of speed marked the first of a series of whippet races held at the Royal Athletic Park Wednesday afternoon by the local association. It is the intention of officials to stage these events oftener and a big meet is expected to be held next week on the same grounds. Several dogs from Up-Island points are expected to face the starter in the next races and keen competition should hold sway.

Excitement ran high as the various dogs were paraded before the grandstand prior to each event, and the crowd was treated to some keen races, the majority of which were won just by inches. The fastest time made for the afternoon was eight seconds for 176 yards. Honors were well divided during the various kennels.

The winning dogs were My Buddy, Lion Tamer, Tankford Prince, Blue Mouse, Blondy K, Betty Rowena, Black Prince and Betty Co-Ed.

Detroit's recent defeat of Lefty Grove has fired the Tigers with enthusiasm. They believe they can lick any pitcher now. The victory was the Bengal's first at the expense of the Philadelphia southpaw in five years!

Vergez' Homer Gives Giants 3 to 2 Victory Over St. Louis Cards

Circuit Drive in Ninth Brings New Yorkers Victory—Cubs Trim Dodgers 4-1—Yankees Whip Browns 12-0—Senators Lose to Chicago

NATIONAL LEAGUE

ST. LOUIS, July 13 (AP).—Johnny Vergez banged the first homer the Giants have made in ten games of their current road trip in the ninth inning today and gave the league-leaders a 3-2 victory over the Cardinals before 14,000 fans.

With "Blondy" Ryan back at shortstop with his spiked leg protected by a special fibre guard, the Giants played errorless ball for the second successive day and the second time in their tour.

New York	3	7	0
St. Louis	2	7	0

Batteries—Hubbell and Mancuso; Carleton and Wilson.

Cubs Win Again

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP). — The second-place Cubs gave Lon Warneke sparkling support today and the combination served to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-1, for Chicago's eighth victory in a row.

In winning his season's eleventh triumph, Warneke yielded eight hits, including three doubles and three walks. But his strength in the pinches and four rapid double plays held the Dodgers to one unearned run.

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	1	5	1
Chicago	4	11	1

Batteries—Beck and Lopez; Warneke and Hartnett.

Swap Places

CINCINNATI, July 13 (AP). — The Reds and Phillies swapped places again today; Cincinnati dropped back into the National League cellar as Philadelphia won, 4-3.

Fullis singled in the second inning with the bases filled to score two men, and Davis added the winning runs for the visitors with a double in the third.

Johnnie Jackson started on the mound for the Phillies, but was replaced by Collins after the fifth when Hafey and Moore singled and Bottomley doubled to drive in two runs.

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	4	9	2
Cincinnati	3	11	2

Batteries—Jackson, Collins and Davis; Derringer, Stout, Smith, Kolp and Manion.

Pirates Whip Braves

PITTSBURGH, July 13 (AP). — Five Pirate hits combined with two Boston errors in an eighth-inning outbreak today produced five runs, breaking a 3-3 tie and giving Pittsburgh an 8-3 victory over the Braves. The victory gives the Pirates a two-to-one edge on the series.

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	3	9	7
Pittsburgh	8	13	1

Batteries — Cantwell, Starr and Hogan; Smith and Grace.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP).—The Yankees backed up "Lefty" Gomez' five-hit pitching today by bunching nine hits, with as many bases on balls off Bump Hadley and Hank McDonald, to defeat St. Louis Browns, 12-0. It was their sixth straight victory and their third over the Browns.

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	5	1
New York	12	9	0

Batteries—McDonald, Hadley and Shea, Ruel; Gomez and Dickey.

Senators' Lead Sliced

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP).—Their league lead shrinking almost as fast as it swelled, Washington Senators today were handed a 9-6 beating by Chicago White Sox which sliced their advantage over the world's champion Yankees to a single game.

Entering the present week with a pennant bee buzzing loud in the Washington camp after a victorious western swing, the Senators have seen a four and a half game lead whittled down by three and a half games since last Sunday.

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	9	20	2
Washington	6	13	4

Batteries — Gregory, Kimsey and Berry; A. Thomas, Russell, Burke, McAfee and Sewell.

Thirteenth Victory

BOSTON, July 13 (AP).—Big Fred Marberry extended his number of victories to thirteen today as Detroit, recovering from two straight setbacks at the hands of the Red Sox, scored a 3-2 victory. "Rocky" Stone, Tiger rightfielder, drove in two of his team's three runs and made three of their seven hits, a double and two singles.

	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	3	7	1

Batteries — Marberry and Hayworth; H. Johnson, Kline and Ferrell.

Homer Breaks Up Game

PHILADELPHIA, July 13 (AP).—O'Dell Hale broke up a see-saw ball game by hitting a home run with one on base in the eighth inning and giving Cleveland Indians a 6-5 triumph over the Athletics today. Hale's home run was a terrific smash that sent the ball over the double-decked stands in left field.

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	6	11	0

Batteries — Pearson, Connally, Harder and Pytlak; Cain and Cochrane.

Nanaimo XI to Go on Tour of B.C. Interior

NANAIMO, July 13. — A trip throughout the Interior of the province is planned by Nanaimo City Football Club, and permission has been granted by officials of the British Columbia Football Association.

Coalmont is proposed as the first stop, and a number of games will be played in the adjoining towns of Allenby, Merritt and Princeton. The city hopes to secure games with Rossland, Nelson, Cranbrook, Fernie, Blairmore and Coleman.

If further arrangements can be made, it is possible that the local eleven will invade Alberta. The trip will be made by auto.

Chapman Finds Watch, Wallet At Local Park

Art Chapman, star left-fielder of the Tillicums ball nine, reported last night that he had located his gold watch and wallet, missing after Monday evening's ball game. Chapman was knocked out while going after a fly ball when he collided with a teammate, Freddy Gibbons, and left the game in the third inning. From the time he left the game until he got home, his memory wasn't very good, and next day he missed his watch and wallet. They were put away with the bats by someone, and found last night at the park. The watch is a valued possession of Chapman's, as it was presented to him by local sport followers on the occasion of the Blue Ribbons winning the Dominion basketball championship.

Jim Browning Wins From Sonnenberg

LOS ANGELES, July 13 (CP).—Jim Browning defeated Gus Sonnenberg in a wrestling bout here last night, taking two falls.

Sonnenberg took the first by butting his opponent in the stomach, in thirty-two seconds. Browning evened the match with an airplane turnover scissors in twenty-four minutes, forty-eight seconds, and repeated with the same hold in five minutes, thirty-seven seconds.

CHRISTNER UPSETS BIG JOSE SANTA

OAKLAND, Cal., July 13 (AP).—Meyer "K.O." Christner, thirty-nine-year-old bald-headed heavyweight of Akron, Ohio, pulled one of the biggest upsets of the year last night as he punched his way to a ten-round decision over Jose Santa, 243-pound giant of Portugal, here.

The burly Akron heavy spotted Santa forty-two pounds, but made use of his greater ring experience to chop the huge Portuguese down to something near his own size.

Wesley Ferrell, Oral Hildebrand and Mel Harder of the Cleveland pitching staff may find it necessary to start every third day or so since the Indians have no other starting pitchers and little prospects of getting one.

POLICE BALL TEAM DEFEATS SPENCER'S IN FAST EXHIBITION

Playing bang-up ball behind the fine pitching of Dave Donaldson, the police ball team defeated Spencer's five, 10-4, at Beacon Hill, Tuesday. Good baseball featured the nine innings of play and both teams pulled off two snappy double plays.

Clayards and Bannister handled numerous chances for the police without an error, while Doug Bone, behind the plate, showed up well.

Batteries—Police, Donaldson and Bone; Spencer's, S. Thompson and F. Humphreys.

Stock and Bond Prices Climb at New York Mart

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP).—Stocks soared and subsided today in the most buoyant session to date of the surging bull market of 1933.

Led by the spurting alcohol group, shares of all categories joined in the upswing that, at one time, carried some issues up for extreme gains of around 16 points.

The huge and sudden piling up of profits, however, was too much for many of the "in-and-outers" and the "cashing-in" jam of the last half-hour cut most of the more pronounced advances down to around 1 to 3 or more points.

It was the heaviest trading session since May 5, 1930. Sales totaled 7,460,520 shares.

While some market observers seemingly were mystified at the broad and sweeping resumption of the forward movement, others pointed out that for some days there has been considerable selling, which has been absorbed without any great difficulty, and which, presumably, served as the necessary "technical corrective" for the somewhat impaired list.

Some of the bullish enthusiasm in stocks bubbled over into the bond market today and inspired a renewal of brisk bidding for secondary descriptions.

Rail loans of speculative flavor were apparently freshened by the recent reaction for a resumption of the advance. Gains of 1 to 3 points were well distributed.

POUND STERLING STILL SOARING

British Funds at Montreal Reach Highest Point in Nineteen Years

MONTREAL, July 13 (CP).—The pound sterling stayed above the $5 mark today on Montreal foreign exchanges and ended up at the highest level since it soared to $5.20, nineteen years ago on the declaration of war, August 4, 1914.

The opening quotation was at $5, in Canadian funds, an overnight gain of 1 5-8 cents from yesterday's closing figure of $4.98 3-8. At the close of banking hours it rapidly climbed to $5.03 3-8, where it closed up 5 cents.

The United States dollar fluctuated narrowly and eventually closed with a loss of 1-8 of 1 per cent at a premium of 4 7-8 per cent.

AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 13 (CP).—Following the cue of the London market, the pound sterling ruled firm on New York foreign exchanges today, with leading gold currencies irregular, but not much changed. Sterling during the London session had been firm both in terms of gold and relation to the dollar.

The Canadian dollar, however, showed a tendency to cast its anchor with the United States dollar. From the opening until the close of the banks, the Dominion's currency remained steady at 95 1-4 cents, unchanged from yesterday's final rate. In the late afternoon it firmed 1-16 of a cent to 95 5-16 cents. The closing rate represented a premium on United States funds of 4 7-8 per cent.

Most interesting characteristic of the market here was the stability of rates. There was virtually no change in the leading rates throughout the first two hours, a condition not experienced here in several weeks.

The pound opened and rose to its high for the day at $4.80 1-2, and then receded to $4.80, to close with a net gain of 5 cents.

WHEAT PRICES LITTLE CHANGED

Futures Move in Two-Cent Range—Market Resists Profit Sales

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP).—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange see-sawed within a two-cent range today, in a market that appeared uncertain which way to turn after following an almost uninterrupted advance since June 30. Throughout the entire session, profit-takers were active, but the market displayed stubborn resistance.

At the close values were 1-4 cent lower to 1-4 cent higher, with July, the delivery option, worth 88 1-4; October, 90 7-8; December, 92 1-2, and May, 96 3-4 cents. No. 1 Nor. was 1-4 cent better at the close at 88 1-4, the price of the July option.

Most of the support appeared to come from Southern interests, while commission houses were active in profit-taking operations. Prices fluctuated rapidly, as speculators with a market position became nervous and rapidly changed their minds.

No export business of any account was noted in the pit, and cables did not confirm any overnight sales.

Cash grains trading was indifferent and spreads were generally unchanged from the previous close. Coarse grains trading was mixed in character.

Gold Issues Advance at Vancouver—Oils and Silvers Strong

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—Trading on the stock exchange, today, was brisk and all issues were in demand. Bralorne was the strong feature in the gold issues, advancing to $9.40 and closing at $9.25 for a net gain of 80c. Pioneer, on light trading, was off $1.00 at $13.25 and Cariboo closed steady at $3.00, after selling at $3.25. Premier Gold was a point weaker at $1.40 and Reno lost 3c at $2.35.

Coast Breweries was in good demand and finished $1.25 stronger at $12.00. Brewers & Distillers gained 15c at $3.40.

In the oils Royalite advanced $1.50 at $19.50; Mayland 11c to $1.52; Dalhousie 8c at 47, and Eastcrest 2 1-2c at 19. Home was off 4c at $1.13 and C. & E. 2c softer at 87c.

The silver issues were in good demand all day and advanced from fractions to 2 points. In the lower priced golds, Wayside was off 1 point at 53 and Bridge River Extension finished about unchanged.

A fair demand came out for base metal issues with light gains scattered through the list.

Liquor Stocks Lead General Advance in Eastern Exchanges

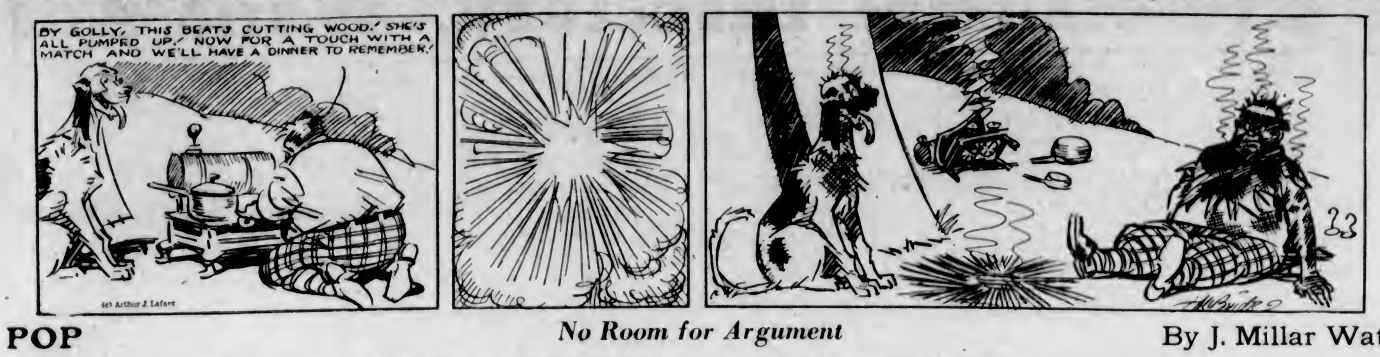

MONTREAL, July 13 (CP).—Buoyed up by the indefatigable liquor stocks, of which the four principals have shown an appreciation in value amounting to $103,516,380 in little more than three months, Montreal Stock Exchange listings bounded upwards in the second largest turnover since 1930 during today's session.

Late profit-taking carried back most of the alcohols about 1 point, but they still held gains of from 1 point to nearly 6 points. The whole distillery group soared to new highs for the year, with several at all-time peaks. Buying was again attributed to New York interests.

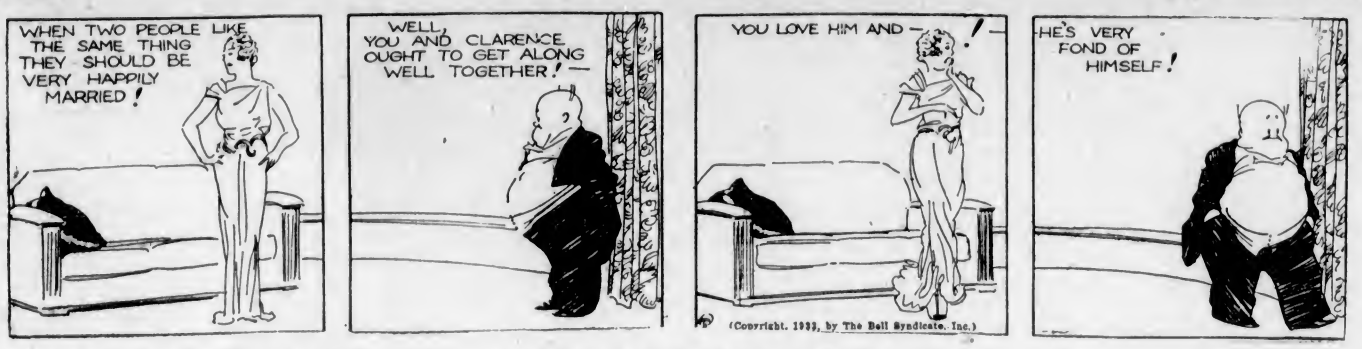

Canadian Industrial Alcohol issues were the features on the exchange the "A" rising 5 points at 23 1-2 with a turnover of 38,000 shares, and the "B" jumping to 22, having reached 23 on sales of 11,000 shares. National Breweries touched a new peak at 29 1-2 but receded to 28 1-2, where it closed with a gain of 1 1-4 points.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE CURE FOR STAMMERING

As a youngster about to leave public for high school, I distinctly remember that the cleverest student in my class was afflicted with stammering. However, cleverness can not make up for what is lost to even the cleverest individual if the stammering is not cured or controlled.

It was formerly considered a disorder of speech and so many exercises, including the use of mechanical devices, were used in the treatment. These exercises and devices helped many cases because they taught the stammerer to control his breathing and not to talk too fast.

However, as you can readily see, the stammerer, when he is quiet or "at his best," can really talk or pronounce his words as well as anybody, showing that there is really no defect in his speech.

What, then, is the cause of the stammering?

It is some little defect in his "personality," a sort of self-consciousness, and when the stammerer gets used to his surroundings, learns to know people well, is not excited about his conversation, the stammering is less or may disappear.

The main line of treatment in schools for stammering, and these schools do excellent work, is to get the stammerer "at ease" in the presence of others.

They are taught special breathing exercises, such as holding the breath, blowing a feather about the room, blowing a pin wheel, breathing in, blowing out imaginary candles, and as they breathe out, making various sounds.

They are taught to speak slowly and in a clear, but not loud, voice. They are taught to try to see the word in their mind before they say it.

In some schools little plays are put on, using a real stage and a small audience of fellow stammerers. The actual use of the telephone to talk to outside people is a part of the training.

What can be done at home to correct stammering and other such speech defects?

The director of hospital services, Ontario Department of Health, Toronto, issues a little booklet on "Stammering and Stuttering" that will be sent free of charge to anybody who is unable to attend schools for stammering and speech defects. The home instructions are excellent.

It is gratifying to know that this embarrassing ailment, which interferes with happiness and success, can now be cured in the majority of cases.

Speaking of pomp, not too long ago, there was a big affair in Kansas City, attended by thousands, at which a foreign promoter, not distinguished too much for his knowledge of music or art, arranged the programme. An orchestra was to play an overture, and everything being on a time schedule, the promoter noted with horror that six minutes was allotted for this musical moment, when he believed three to four minutes was ample.

"Vot is dis piece you got to play which takes six minutes?" he asked the orchestra leader, angrily.

"Pomp and Circumstance," came the reply, naming the famous Edward Elgar march that has opened affairs of this kind for years.

"Oh, is dot so?" came the instant reply. "Vell, just play the pomp and let the circumstance go."

Jones (dictating to his typist)—But why do you stop so often? Can't you keep up with me?

Typist (who is rather shaky in her spelling)—Oh, yes, but your language is so eloquent that I frequently find myself spellbound.

SEMIS ARE REACHED IN STATE MEET

Murio, Langlie, Dranga and Sabin Advance in Washington Tourney

SEATTLE, July 13 (AP).—Upsetting three seeded Californians, John Murio, San Francisco; Howard Langlie and Mel Dranga, both of Seattle, and Wayne Sabin, Portland, forged their way into the semi-finals of the Washington State tennis tournament, at the Seattle Club, today.

Langley was forced to three sets to barely nose out Lloyd Budge, Oakland, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, while the three other survivors won easily.

Murio eliminated his fellow townsman and doubles partner, Martin Kenneally, 6-1, 6-4; Dranga conquered Charles Hunt, San Francisco, 6-0, 6-1, and Sabin defeated Ernest Gardner, Seattle, 6-1, 6-2.

REACH FINAL

Golda Meyer Gross, San Francisco, and Gracyn Wheeler, Los Angeles, became finalists in the women's singles. Mrs. Gross disposed of May Hope Doeg, of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-4, and Mrs. Wheeler eliminated Dorothy Sutton Bundy, Los Angeles, 6-1, 7-9, 6-4.

The women's finals will be played Saturday, with one of the men's semi-finals tomorrow and the other Saturday.

In the two junior singles matches, Sabin defeated Vincent Sandahl, Spokane, 6-2, 6-0, and Robert Pommer, Los Angeles, beat Ernest Gardner, Seattle, 8-6, 6-1. Harry Goldman, San Francisco, and Dan Kelley, Portland, and Ned Russell, Los Angeles, and Jack Ehrhart, Hoquiam, will meet in the other two semi-finals tomorrow.

KEEN MATCHES MARK TOURNEY

Trio of Extra Set Matches Feature of Hillcrest Tennis Club Tournament

With the finals drawing near, competition in the annual Hillcrest Tennis Club tournament yesterday proved keener than at any time since the meet got under way last week. Three extra matches featured, with the winners being forced to the limit to score victories. Cliff Margison and Bill Erickson won a tough struggle from Simpson and Van Froome in the men's doubles, finally winning out, 3-6, 6-3, 12-10, while A. Wright and Herb Davey put out Butler and V. Hicks, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

In another three-set match, Miss Parkinson and Miss E. Warburton won over Miss Hodgson and Miss Lockley, 6-8, 6-0, 6-2. The rest of the matches ended in regular fashion.

Results and today's draw follow:

Men's Doubles

Margison and Erickson defeated Simpson and Van Froome, 3-6, 6-3, 12-10.

A. Wright and Davey defeated Butler and V. Hicks, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

Women's Doubles

Miss Northam and Miss Greaves defeated Mrs. Wright and Miss V. Jacklin, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Parkinson and Miss E. Warburton defeated Miss Hodgson and Miss Lockley, 6-8, 6-0, 6-2.

TODAY'S DRAW

Today's draw follows:

6:00—Miss Parkinson vs. Mrs. Wright; Miss E. Warburton and Erickson vs. Miss Brakes and V. Hicks.

6:30—Miss Boyce and Davey vs. Mrs. Erickson and Wright.

KEN BLACK, FRANK DOLP, CAMPBELL AND H. GIVAN SURVIVING QUARTETTE

the Vancouver veteran sank a forty-foot putt to go one up with a birdie three. They halved the next, but Givan again squared the match on the twenty-sixth, when Gowan three-putted. The American himself three-putted the twenty-seventh, and was one down when they rounded into the stretch.

GIVAN SQUARES MATCH

After a half on the short twenty-eighth, Givan squared the match again with a birdie four on the eleventh, and held even until the thirty-second, when he approached within six feet of the cup and sank his putt. Gowan came back with a birdie three to win the next with a second shot two feet from the pin, and a beautifully cut putt that slipped around a three-quarter stymie by the American.

Givan recovered nicely from a bunker to halve the thirty-fourth, and won the 232-yard thirty-fifth with a deuce, although Gowan sank his approach shot after being over the green in two. The match was decided on the home green, when Givan chipped forty feet to within eighteen inches of the pin and halved the hole.

Dolp and Campbell will get away tomorrow morning at 10:15 o'clock, Pacific standard time and Black and Givan will follow fifteen minutes later.

WANT MARTIN DISCIPLINED

Rideau Club Asks That Reginan Be Dropped From Team to Play at Vancouver

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—Officials of the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club will attempt to have Walter Martin, Davis Cup player from Regina and Toronto, dropped from the Ontario team to be sent to the Canadian tennis championships in Vancouver.

P. D. Lyons, club president, announced tonight he had made a formal protest to the Canadian and Ontario tennis associations over Martin attending the Spring Lake, N.J., tourney after sending in his entry for the Eastern Canada event here.

Martin and Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, ordinarily would be Ontario's selections for the Canadian tournament. The local club will attempt to have Martin dropped to discipline him. Club officials claim he entered both the local and the New Jersey tournaments and failed even to wire Ottawa he would not be present.

It will be claimed by the local club that its tournament should have had its priority over the New Jersey one.

Henry Prusoff Goes Under in Atlanta Meet

ATLANTA, Ga., July 13 (AP).—Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, the midget star who dominated Southern tennis a few years ago, today swept aside one of his most dangerous rivals—Henry Prusoff, of Seattle—in his drive toward a fifth Southern tennis singles championship.

Grant, who won the Southern crown four years in a row starting in 1927, turned back the tall Pacific Coast star, who held an advantage in weight and height, in straight sets, 9-7, 6-2.

Along with Grant, into the semi-finals went three other seeded players, Robert "Lefty" Bryan, of Chattanooga; John McDiarmid, of Fort Worth, Texas, and Billy Rees, of Atlanta.

Rainville Advances In Eastern Tennis

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP)).—Laird Watt, McGill University tennis player, singles champion of Quebec, was eliminated today from the Eastern Canada championships by a slight, twenty-three-year-old Ottawa boy, George Leclerc. Leclerc caused a major upset in defeating the tall, bespectacled collegian, 9-7, 6-3.

Marcel Rainville, Canada's No. 1 player, advanced to the semi-finals with an easy win over Bob Murray, another McGill man. Keeping pace with him was J. C. I. Edwards, Ottawa, who eliminated Grant McLean, Toronto singles titleholder, and Ross Wilson, of Toronto, who stroked his way to a 6-4, 6-4 win over Leslie Read, of Montreal.

Wally Martin Wins Second Round Match

SPRING LAKE, N.J., July 13 (CP).—Walter Martin, Regina tennis star, teamed with Bud Tenney, of Spring Lake, today, to advance through the second round of the Spring Lake Club invitation tournament with a 7-5, 6-4 victory over T. G. Benton and C. Bobcock, New Jersey entrants. The match was hard-fought throughout, with Martin's steady serving and back-court play a deciding factor.

ROWING BODY MAKES APOLOGY TO CLELAND

MONTREAL, July 13 (CP).—The Amateur Oarsmen Association of Canada has apologized to W. B. Cleland, of Hamilton, for associating his name with a resolution passed by the association at Ottawa, Saturday, requesting Bobby Pearce to declare his intentions about turning professional before his entry would be accepted for the Canadian Henley, it was announced today by President J. Y. Owen, of Montreal.

JUNIOR SOFTBALL

The Workers' Sports Association and Goodwin's Grocery will replay their championship tussle in the Junior Softball League tomorrow evening, at Victoria West Park, at 6:30 o'clock. W.S.A. won the fixture earlier in the week by a 13-12 score, but Goodwin's won their protest, and the fixture was ordered replayed by the executive. Secretary Clarke announced that entries for the knockout competition must be in his hands as soon as possible, as officials want to make the draw for the opening rounds

FARBER WINS FROM WOLGAST

Flyweight Champion Decisioned in Tenth Round—Judges Disagree

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP).—Lew Farber, of New York, gained a disputed decision over Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, generally recognized as flyweight champion of the world, in a ten-round non-title match at Fugazy Bowl, Coney Island, tonight.

Some ringside critics thought Wolgast had gained a clear edge, but the referee and one judge voted for Farber, while the second judge's ballot was cast for the Philadelphian.

The fight was slow for six rounds, but both opened up in the last four rounds, with Wolgast outscoring his rival in most of the lively exchanges. He weighed 115 pounds, three more than the class limit.

Between Innings

Jim Bottomley, Sparky Adams, Andy High, Paul Derringer, Allyn Stout, Chick Hafey and Wally Roettger, all St. Louis Cardinals during the world series with the A's in 1932, are now with the Cincinnati Reds.

Babe Herman, the Chicago Club clouter who is in one at the present time, says really great hitters do not mind slumps. They know they will get out of them sooner or later, says the Babe.

Clyde Sukeforth, Brooklyn catcher who was shipped to Memphis, refused to join the Southern Association club because, he says, of the terrific heat. Clyde is already underweight and doesn't want to risk losing more poundage.

Bob Burke would have dropped to the minors this season, but the Cleveland Indians refused to waive on the Senator moundsman, so the Washington club decided to keep him.

J. H. BEATTY WINS MEDAL AT COLWOOD

J. H. Beatty won the monthly medal round played at Colwood, Wednesday, when he finished with 86-17—69. Alex Straith was second with 78-8—70.

F. PETROLLE LOSES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 13 (AP). — Frankie Petrolle, 147, of Schenectady, N.Y., brother of Billy, lost his ten-round fight here tonight to Carmen Knapp, 147, of New Haven, on a decision. Petrolle scored the only knockdown of the bout in the fifth round.

ISLAND HOSPITAL RECEIVES GRANT

Ladysmith Council Donates $1,000 to City Institution Covering Fire Protection

LADYSMITH, July 13.—The city council met in a brief business session on Wednesday evening for the disposal of routine matters.

A communication from the directors of the General Hospital here accepted the council's offer of $1,000 in lieu of the city's obligations for hospitalization. This sum will insure fire protection for the institution and this arrangement will be continued unless conditions warrant a new agreement.

The Ladysmith Agricultural Society wrote expressing appreciation of the council's assistance towards the success of former Fall fairs, and asked that the same material support be accorded for the next fair during September. The society's task this year is rendered much more difficult through the withdrawal of official help, and the aldermen were unanimous that donations of electrical goods towards the prize lists for the 1933 Fall fair were in order.

Considerable correspondence from various bond and security brokers was read, quoting offers for securities held by the city. Several thousands of dollars worth of long and short-term bonds have been disposed of recently in readiness to liquidate some of the city's maturing obligations, and further authority was placed in the hands of the finance committee to complete the transactions.

Committees' routine reports completed the evening's business.

SCHOOL MEETING HELD AT SOOKE

SOOKE, July 11.—The annual meeting of the ratepayers of Sooke Rural School District, was held in Sooke Hall on July 8, A. Campbell in the chair.

A satisfactory financial report was given by G. H. Jones, acting secretary, which showed a balance of over $300, which will be used in installing a new heating system in the school.

C. Thompson was re-elected trustee, and A. C. Helgesen was elected auditor in place of A. Kohout.

It was decided to reduce the $3 tax on non-ratepayers to $2.50, and the expense of the monthly visits of a school nurse will be assumed by the ratepayers.

The estimates for the year brought forward by the School Board were passed by the meeting

MAKE NO CHANGE IN TEACHERS' SALARIES

SIDNEY, July 13.—The ratepayers of Sidney district met in the schoolhouse recently for their annual meeting. The large number attending showed wide interest in school affairs. After the usual reports there was consid

CHAPTER XLVI

In dealing with the state of Navestock town, The Wannington Clarion disappointed all those readers who liked to coat their texts with mud before they slung them. The paper had been disciplined, and taught to handle facts. There was an absence of rant that surprised Navestock, and made mean, circuitous gentlemen such as Mr. Wilks feel uneasy. Some god stood behind the gods, restraining, directing, launching these cool, judicial revelations. Boxall's proof-sheets were slashed and amended by some autocratic and shrewd blue pencil. Personalities were banned. There were the facts to quarrel with, and nothing more.

Turrell sneered, but there was exasperation behind his scorn. He understood ordinary newspaper warfare, the writing of annihilating letters, the damning of enemies as political demagogues. But The Clarion had developed new tactics. The Radical dog was not snarling so that the Tory dog could snarl back. It had dropped the old bombastic, pyrotechnic volley-firing. Turrell had a suspicion that he was being attacked by some new sort of scientific artillery.

Then those who ruled The Clarion did a subtle thing. In the same week's issue there appeared, side by side, a description of Lord Blackwater's admirably-managed estate and a survey of a portion of Navestock town. No conclusions were drawn, no morals pointed. Just the stark contrasts were set down in plain language. Those who read the two accounts could set facts beside facts, and draw their own conclusions. On the one hand stretched the estate of a magnanimous and enlightened man, bred in the best traditions, and inspired by the consciousness of aristocratic responsibility. On the other hand, men saw the slovenly and selfish cynicism of the mere bourgeois landlord.

Yet Navestock—proletarian Navestock—was not in the least grateful. It had been born and bred in dependence and servility. It mistrusted these over-strenuous people who seemed inclined to turn everything upside down.

"What's the good of baiting old Turrell? The man ain't perfect, but he spends his money here. And supposing, for the sake o' argument, they made him pull down all these three lanes, they couldn't make him put 'em up again, could they? You can't force a man to build! And supposing he shut up the brewery, and turned all the chaps out? What's to become of us as gets a living in the town? Yah—I don't hold with busybodies. We don't want so much o' this darned sympathy. There ain't enough cottages in the town as it is. We want to be let alone."

All the world loves to see things happen dramatically, and Hector Turrell had a sense of the dramatic. He was applauded and egged on by the young bucks and toadies who foregathered in the billiard-room of the White Harte Hotel. Young Turrell was the George IV of Navestock, the first gentleman in the town, and its foremost dandy.

These knowing bucks, these gorgeous men of the world rallied to him enthusiastically.

"Ba Jove! that's the game! Give the fellah a thrashin'!"

"Or put him down one of his own wells! He seems fond of wells!"

Hector Turrel twiddled a stout cane, leaning against the billiard table, his hat on the back of his head.

I'm going to hunt the chap out. You fellows can come along and watch. But keep out of the way. I don't want any interference."

They beamed about the beloved one.

"Interference! Listen to him!"

"As if he'd want it!"

"Swop me bob, somebody else will be callin' for the police."

This young god, ambrosial-breathed, Homeric, strode forth through Navestock town. He had a copy of The Wannington Clarion in his pocket, and a stout cane in his big right fist. His satellites followed, keeping him in sight—ornate, fleshy young men, plaid-bellied, triumphant as to trousers, diffusing through Navestock "beauty and genius and joy."

Hector Turrell arrived at Mrs. Loosely's gate. He prodded it open with one end of his cane set against Wolfe's brass plate. Mrs. Loosely's maid was polishing the brass knocker on the green front door.

"Mr. Wolfe in?"

"No, sir."

"Know where I can find him?"

"I do believe he went across to Mr. Crabbe's, sir."

"Right."

He made off in the direction of Josiah Crabbe's, waving his cane to the Brotherhood of the Billiard Room that had waited at a discreet distance.

Chance so arranged it that Wolfe was coming out of Josiah Crabbe's gate when Hector Turrell appeared at the end of the lane leading to Eve's Corner. It was a quiet part of the town, and the only other person to be seen was the Navestock knife-grinder and mender of umbrellas at work at his hand-cart under one of the Lombardy poplars farther along the road. Hector Turrell, galloping for the dramatic moment, would have preferred more publicity. Yet the Fraternity of the "White Hart" would be there to witness the episode, and Timothy Bumby the knife-grinder was as ubiquitous a gossip as could be desired.

Turrell walked on to meet Wolfe who had turned in his direction. The footpath running at the bottom of Josiah Crabbe's stone wall was a narrow one, and there was not room enough for two people to pass each other without one of them either stepping into the gutter, or standing back against the wall. Wolfe was walking with his eyes on the ground.

"Good morning."

Wolfe was brought up sharply within five feet of young Turrell. The shallow glare in the eyes, the grin about the mouth, were unmistakable. Wolfe, who had fought tawvies in his time, knew the look. It was the gloating face of a bully, insolent and triumphant.

"Good morning."

He tugged at something in his pocket, and brought out a copy of The Wannington Clarion.

"One word, please."

"What do you want?"

"You know this rag, I suppose?"

"I suppose I do."

Wolfe's voice was curiously quiet. His face seemed to harden and grow more rugged. He heard Josiah Crabbe's gate open. Adam Grinch had come out and was standing there, watching. Moreover, along the railings on the opposite side of the road half a score "gay dogs" had hung themselves in attitudes of lounging expectancy.

"Looke here, did you write this stuff?"

"What has that to do with you?"

"A good deal, when it comes to blackguarding my father."

"It says nothing against your father."

"None of your beastly quibbles. Did you write it?"

"I did."

There was the sudden whirl of an arm as Turrell dashed the paper in Wolfe's face. He raised his cane, and made a grab at the collar of Wolfe's coat. The clutch was parried by the jerk of an elbow.

"Wait. If you want——"

"You damned cur——"

"I warn you——"

"I'm going to give you the best thrashing——"

Adam Grinch was clumping along the path, but fate had struck before he reached the pair. Hector Turrel had been sent sprawling by a drive on the jaw.

The knife-grinder had ceased treddling his grindstone, and was standing in the middle of the road. He sqat to emphasize the state of his feelings. The Brotherhood of the Billiard Room had lost some of its jauntiness. Adam Grinch had come up behind Wolfe.

"He's a powerful young beast, Mr. Wolfe, sir."

"All right, Grinch."

"Darn it," said the knife-grinder, "he is all right—surely."

Turrell, a little dazed and astonished, was up and at Wolfe like the mere brutal slugger that he was. His savage self-confidence, and the lust to smash his man were all against his chances. He was up against an expert fighter who had the reach and height of him, and the deadly "sang-froid" of a perfect temper. Wolfe, in his student days, had fought and beaten better men that Hector Turrell.

The Brotherhood of the Billiard Room wilted along the opposite railings. The knife-grinder chuckled, and heaved himself. Wolfe, with head well back, seemed to brush Turrell's arms aside as though they were mere sticks. His crisp, sinewy punches landed serenely. He looked unmarked, unbothered. Turrell had been down twice before his boon companions stormed across and smothered him.

"Let me go, Ally, damn you——"

"The chap hit you a cad's blow. You weren't yourself."

"Hold on, Tony."

"Let go, you fools."

"Shut up, we don't want a fuss. Someone go across and square old Bumby."

They smothered their idol, picked up his hat and cane, and crowded him away. A man who knows himself beaten is persuadable at times, despite his oaths and vallancies. But Bumby, the knife-grinder, was not persuadable.

"Go along with ye, Mr. Tofts—not me. I ain't one as takes money to see a good fight. What! Half the town will be mad to stand me drinks over the telling o' this—and you knows it."

"You old scoundrel!"

The knife-grinder chuckled.

Adam Grinch was standing at Wolfe's elbow, brown-armed and solemn, a strong man and a Purltan proud of a strong man's strength.

"That was a judgment o' heaven, sir. Will you come back into Mr. Crabbe's and wash your hands? There's Philistine blood on 'em."

Wolfe's eyes still had the battle shine in them.

"There is not much the matter with me, Adam. I'll go on to Eve's Corner."

Grinch went in, and found Josiah Crabbe standing outside one of the French windows. He was ready to start on his daily walk round the garden, and his black cloth gaiters made his legs look like the legs of a turkey. A frail figure, indeed, yet frail with a terrible fragility, thin-edged as flame.

"What was that fuss, Adam?"

"You heard it, sir?"

"I did."

"That son of Belial, young Turrell, trying to thrash a better man than himself."

Crabbe's eyes sparkled fiercely.

"The son of a bully, Adam! What happened?"

"He was struck by the fury o' heaven, sir. Mr. Wolfe's a fighter, a mighty man with his fists. He's been learning young Jabez to box; seems he's a master of it. He near knocked young Turrell's head off."

The gold snuff-box came out.

"Have a pinch, Adam."

"I don't mind if I do, sir."

"Hey! what a grand day for the Turrells! They'll jump for joy, won't they! That's good—that's good. Spread it about the town, Adam. Spread it about."

"That'll be done, sir. Timothy Bumby, the tinker, was looking on. You know what they call Bumby, sir? 'Frothing Tim'."

"Let him froth."

He felt in his waistcoat pocket and brought out o crown piece.

"Go and give that to Bumby, Adam. Spin it under his nose. Tell him to froth all over the town. You should have called me to see it, Adam. A Turrell thrashed in Navestock! We're getting on, we're getting on."

NINE YEARS IN JUNGLES

German Engineer Relates Thrilling Story of Life With Amazon Indians

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, July 13 (AP).—A thrilling story of nine years' wandering in the deepest jungles of the Amazon, where he saw a companion burned as an Indian sacrifice and many others fall victoms to disease, was told yesterday by Herman Huth, a German chemical engineer.

Huth arrived here from the interior, which he said he entered as a member of a scientific expedition in 1924. His account of his adventures covered two pages of the newspaper El Telegrafo.

The German said the expedition, headed by Dr. Otto Shulze, set out to study principally the curative properties of plants and seeds. Tropical illnesses reduced the party of twenty-four Germans to only eleven in three years, he said.

After some time among the pacific tribes of the high Amazon, Huth said he and Dr. Shulze, with Indian guides and bearers, decided to enter the zones inhabited by savage Indians in the Paetaza region.

WERE MADE PRISONERS

They were made prisoners of the cannibal Boras tribe, while their guides escaped or departed.

The two Germans were tied to trees while the Indians burned bonfires around them, and Huth said he looked on while Dr. Shulze was burned to death as a sacrifice. The Indians sang around the flames, he said.

Watching the barbarous spectacle without being able to aid his friend, Huth declared he lost consciousness. When he recovered, he said he was with an Indian woman of the Jibara tribe, who made him understand she had saved him in order that he would be her husband.

FINALLY ESCAPES

They were married, Huth said, at a ceremony in which the woman extracted her eye teeth as a sign of her married condition. Huth said he finally made his escape.

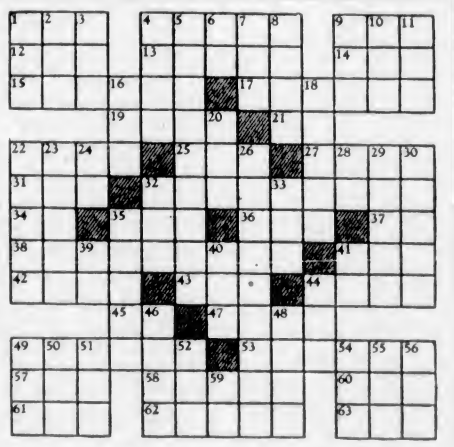

After three months of traveling in the jungle, fleeing from savages and beasts, Huth said he came to the limits of the Amazonic region.

Huth brought with him from the Morgan Evangelical Mission a Jibara woman, who was baptized with the name Lucinda Matanzas. The German said he was undecided whether to return to Germany or to the savage life of the jungle. He is accustomed to going without clothes and claimed a knowledge of various Indian dialects.

Safe at Home!

—He Has a Telephone

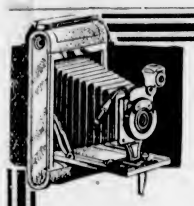

IN everyday life, as in baseball, it's important to be "safe at home."

There are lots of people whose homes have never been entered by burglars, or threatened by fire, or who have never had an accident or illness that required a hurry-up call for the doctor. But they never know when any of these things might happen.

A telephone in the house gives a sense of security, because, when danger threatens, a telephone call is the quickest way to bring help.

New Officer to Assume Command

Brigadier W. G. Beeman, director of military operations and intelligence, will arrive here shortly to take over command of Military District No. 11, succeeding Brigadier H. H. Matthews, of Calgary, who has been in charge since the retirement of Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, former commanding officer. It was not learned if the appointment was permanent.

Brigadier Beeman is an artillery officer and served in the Great War during the later part of 1917 and 1918 with the Canadian Heavy Artillery Corps. He was decorated with the D.S.O. for gallant service.

SIR JOHN SIMON TO HOLIDAY IN BRAZIL

LONDON, July 13 (AP).—Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and Lady Simon sailed yesterday aboard the steamship Arlanza for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, for a holiday. They will return on the same ship, due at Southampton, August 29.

It was said recently, Sir John's health was causing his friends anxiety.

Hammerfest, Norway, is the most northern town in Europe.
